35TH ANNUAL WEEK 'OPENS' AT SEMINARY

"The origins of the Lord's Supper are found in the interpretations which Jewish Hellenists put on the death of Christ in the light of the Messianic banquet," said Rev. Dr. Cyril Charles Richardson in his address before students, faculty and alumni of the Lutheran Seminary in the opening day of the 35th annual Seminary Week observance Wednesday.

"The institution grew out of the cultic acts of the Jewish Hellenists, in that they reworked Christ's saving death from the principle of the breaking of bread into the saving covenant of the body and blood," the Episcopal priest and professor of church history at Union Theological Seminary, New York, said.

The speaker distinguished between the Church of the Twelve, referring to the Jewish Christians tracing its traditions to the twelve disciples, and the Church of the Seven, "of which St. Stephen was the spokesman and martyr."

"Understanding Passion" Dr. Richardson further noted that "St. Philip was the first to understand the Passion of Christ as saving, The Jewish Hellenists, in making their attack on the Temple cultus, thus departed more from Jewish thought than the Church of the Twelve. The cultus attack was central to Philip and the Hellenists."

Two Cars And Cycle In Crash Thursday

Damage totaled $320 when two cars and a motorcycle collided at the intersection of Baltimore and W. Middle Sts. Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Borough police said the motorcycle, driven by Alvin A. King, Littlestown R. 1, an employee at a local garage, struck the automobile of Mrs. Laura Freed, Carlisle St., New Oxford, causing $300 damage to that vehicle and then glanced off and struck the car of Anna Mae Bigham, Gettysburg R. 4, causing $10 damage to that auto. Damage to the motorcycle was also estimated at $10.

According to police, King did not stop immediately after the accident but reported soon afterward to the borough police office.

SAYS CHILDREN IN COUNTY ARE IN GOOD HEALTH

Children in Adams County are "better cared for than in many other counties because parents here assume responsibility for their children's health," Miss Ellen Miller, Gettysburg school nurse, told the Youth Development Committee of the Adams County Agricultural Extension Association Wednesday evening at a meeting in the court house.

The session was the last in a series of discussions on problems of youth conducted by the committee which will seek to make a number of long range recommendations for the county extension association. "The present health status of children in the county's schools is good," Miss Miller said.

The nurse stressed a need for parents to understand the diverse attitudes and needs of different age groups of youth and "to encourage the potential shown in our youth."

Favor Community Center

In the 12 to 14-year age group, girls develop ahead of boys mentally and physically, Miss Miller said. "There is also a struggle and competition for recognition. Grooming is a problem with both boys and girls. Their unpredictable, tense age has emotional problems."

"In the 15 to 18-year-old group boys gain on girls and pass them in physical development and equalize in social development. Grooming is important too and most acquire and use good grooming practices during this period. Their health is a major problem. Emotional problems center around dating, parent relationships, inner security and the struggle to enter the adult world."

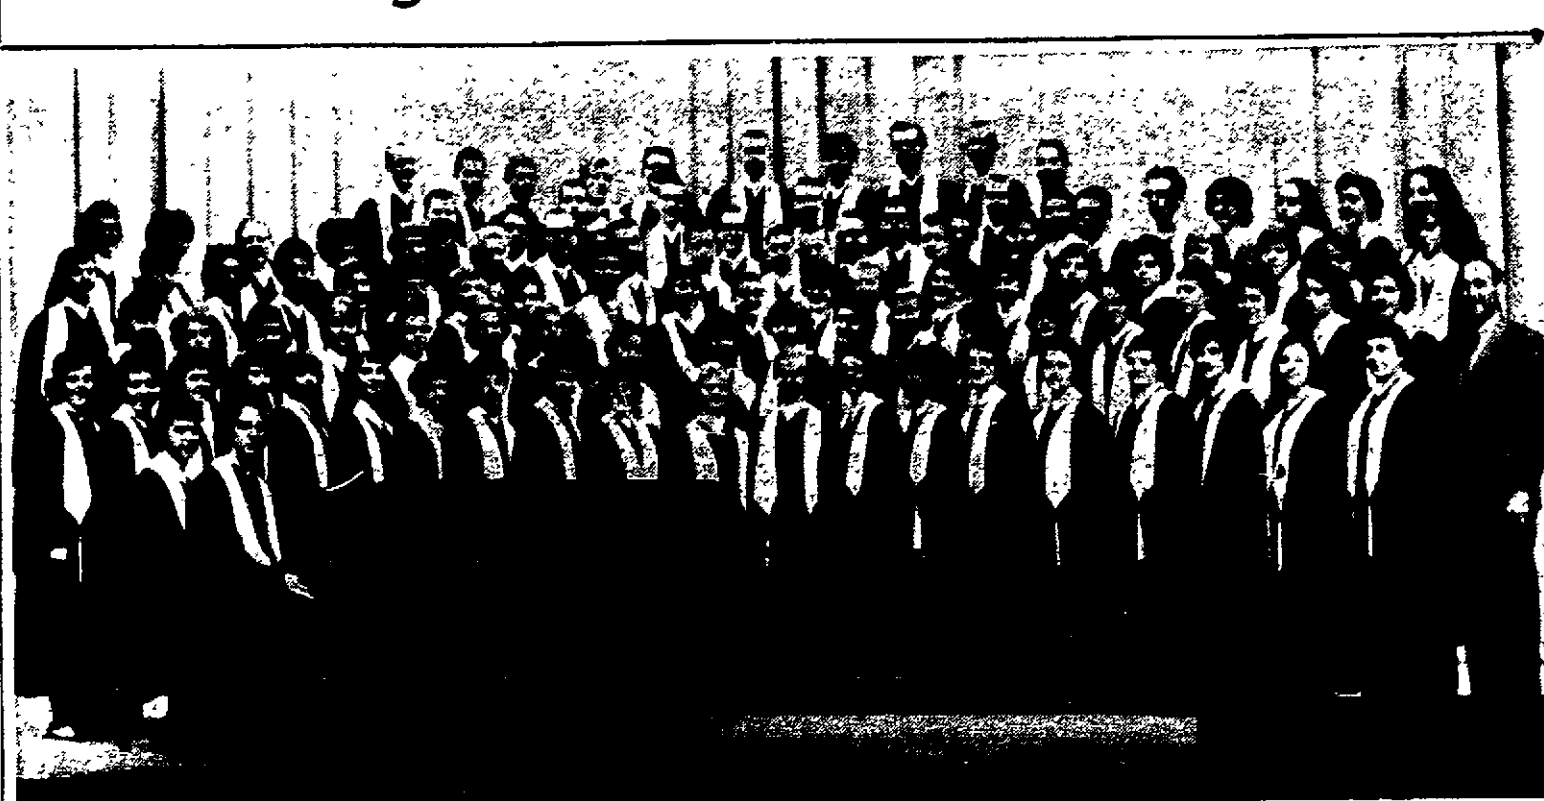

Mrs. Aaron Rohrbach and Mrs. John K. Lott gave subcommittee reports, calling the attention of the committee to the announcement that Littlestown is contemplating purchasing a school for a community center "and that Gettysburg, too, could have a fine centrally located community center in the Eberhart building."

cident an aggressive act, and asked rhetorically of the United States:

"If you think you can take such measures, why don't you think we can take similar measures when a plane appears over our territory and threatens the security of our country? We have the same rights as you, the same means as you."

"We have no bombers on duty, but we have rockets on duty. They are more accurate and trust worthy than your bombers."

Then came the threat to U.S. allies. Khrushchev said it is high time for those countries which have provided the United States with bases to realize they are playing with fire and that they, too, can suffer retaliatory blows.

The Soviet leader contended the American plane was sent on a mission to impress and frighten the Soviet Union on the eve of the summit.

Keeps Plane Secret

Khrushchev did not disclose the type of plane, the number aboard or fate of the fliers.

The deputies in the Supreme Soviet applauded Khrushchev's prediction that chances of success at the summit have been dimmed by the attitude of the Western Allies. Khrushchev said the governments of the United States, Britain and France do not seem to be looking forward to settlement of outstanding cold war issues.

"This dims the chances of success at the talks," Khrushchev said.

Describing what he presented as events leading up to the plane incident, Khrushchev said an American plane crossed into Soviet territory from the Afghan border April 9 and the Soviet Union took no action.

"Shoot Down Invader"

"Apparently the Americans liked the fact that they made this incursion and were not punished," the premier said. "On the first of May at 5:36 a.m. an American plane crossed the border into our territory. The order was given to shoot down the invader. This order was fulfilled and the plane was shot down.

"It appeared that the plane was American, although the markings were painted out."

Deputies shouted, "Down with the aggressor!" and "It's direct banditry!"

Khrushchev added that "a strict protest will be made and we will inform them that we have the right to take any measure necessary for the defense of our country."

New Gas Station Is Opened Today

Jay's Sunoco Service Station, Buford Ave., was officially opened this morning when Burgess Wilbur L. Plank cut a ribbon opening the new station for business.

J. L. Sheffield, 16 Buford Ave., manager of the station, said that the opening will continue today, Friday and Saturday. He recently completed a six weeks of Sun Oil Company school with an average of 99 per cent.

"We will give away a carton of six cokes with every 10-gallon purchase of gas and we will have special gifts for the ladies and children. A grand prize will also be awarded. Every person calling at the station (they need not purchase anything) will be given a ticket which will entitle them to a chance on the prize. Also it will entitle them to a free lube with an oil change purchase within 30 days," Sheffield said. "We will have a special sale on tires and oil," he added.

The station will be open from 7 a.m. until 10 p.m.

cident an aggressive act, and asked rhetorically of the United States:
"If you think you can take such measures, why don't you think we can take similar measures when a plane appears over our territory and threatens the security of our country? We have the same rights as you, the same means as you. We have no bombers on duty, but we have rockets on duty. They are more accurate and trustworthy than your bombers."

Then came the threat to U.S. allies. Khrushchev said it is high time for those countries which have provided the United States with bases to realize they are playing with fire and that they, too, can suffer retaliatory blows.

The Soviet leader contended the American plane was sent on a mission to impress and frighten the Soviet Union on the eve of the summit.

Keeps Plane Secret
Khrushchev did not disclose the type of plane, the number aboard or fate of the fliers.

The deputies in the Supreme Soviet applauded Khrushchev's prediction that chances of success at the summit have been dimmed by the attitude of the Western Allies. Khrushchev said the governments of the United States, Britain and France do not seem to be looking forward to settlement of outstanding cold war issues.

"This dims the chances of success at the talks," Khrushchev said.

Describing what he presented as events leading up to the plane incident, Khrushchev said an American plane crossed into Soviet territory from the Afghan border April 9 and the Soviet Union took no action.

"Shoot Down Invader"
"Apparently the Americans liked the fact that they made this incursion and were not punished," the premier said. "On the first of May at 5:36 a.m. an American

Invite Public To Bishop's Talks

"Because of the present situation of the church in a divided Germany, the lectures to be delivered by Bishop Hanns Lilje, of Hannover, Germany, at the 35th annual Seminary Week observance at the Lutheran Seminary are expected to be both timely and informative," said Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of the seminary.

The seminary administration and faculty have extended an invitation to the public to share in the two lectures scheduled to be delivered by the German Lutheran bishop this evening at 7 o'clock and Friday at 11 a.m.

Bishop Lilje's subjects will be "The Church in East and West Germany" and "The Christian Encounter with Atheism."

SPRING MUSIC FESTIVAL TO BE HELD TUESDAY

Conewago Township Elementary School will present the first spring music festival Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The presentation, entitled "The Seasons on Parade," an original production written and directed by Mrs. Annabelle Czerwicz, music supervisor, will include pupils from each of the grades.

The story centers around Frosty the Snowman, played by Barry Homan, who has never seen anything but snow and who is curious to know what happens during the part of the year when snowmen are out of season. Betty and Bob, portrayed by Sherry Lerch and David Lamb, in whose yard Frosty was created, proceed to explain the four seasons of the year.

The following musical selections will depict the highlights of each season: Winter—"Winter Wonderland," mixed chorus; "Skater's Waltz" ballet, Darlene Gerber and Toni Williams; "Santa's Little Toy Store" and "Toyland," first and second grades; "Father of the Land We Love" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," fourth and fifth grades.

Autumn—"School Days," Donna Pottoff and Bonita Markle, third graders, will tap dance; "Do-Re-Mi Song" with solo by Deborah Markle, third grade; chorus in "Mr. Touchdown USA" with baton twirling by Jeanne Wentz; also "Shine on Harvest Moon."

Summer—Chorus will sing "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" with tap dance by Toni Williams, Gail Gabaugh, Darlene Gerger and Sharon Fuhrman; also "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy" and "It's a Grand Old Flag."

Spring—Presented by the chorus including "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" with vocal solo by Nancy Storm and tap dance by Penny Quinn; also "April Showers," "Apple Blossom Time" and "Easter Parade."

Others to participate in the presentation will be Linda Steick, Cheryl Deamer, Michael McCarthy, Danny Little, Carroll Kern, Sharon Hershey, Joseph Bennett, Donna Rummel, Donald Rummel, Beverly Utz, Wayne Hetrick, Linda Mathias, Sherry Rutters, Janet Basford, Jacob Bankert, Gary Krichton, Joyce Blvens and Toni Lafferty.

"UNDER THE BRIDGE"

Under the bridge he ponders
... watching the world go by
... one rascal playing hooky
... without good reason why
... under the bridge it's lonely
... nothing to see or do ... but it's a place of hiding ...
completely out of view ...
under the bridge there's an echo ... answering every word ... he must converse with someone ... although he might be heard ... under the bridge is an alcove ... put there by nature's hand ... to help the wishful dreamers
... who try to understand ...
under the bridge it's cool ...
under the bridge it's quiet ...
clear water is a mirror ...
reflecting one little fool.

OFFER COURSE
FOR SCIENCE,
MATH STAFFS

UNIVERSITY PARK — A program of instruction for science and mathematics teachers in public, private, and parochial secondary schools will be conducted throughout the state during 1960-61 by the Pennsylvania State University.

The program, which will make possible 250 single course enrollments, is supported by a $29,890 grant from the National Science Foundation. It is designed to improve science and mathematics instruction by enabling teachers to obtain additional information on matters such as research developments in biology, chemistry, earth sciences, mathematics and physics.

The classes will be offered during evening hours or on Saturdays at the Commonwealth Campuses of the University in Altoona, Erie, DuBois, Hazleton, McKeesport, Ogontz and Pottsville as well as at other locations where there is sufficient teacher interest to justify the program.

The program provides full tuition of $60 for each semester course and other allowances and any secondary teacher now in service and teaching at least one full course in mathematics, biology, chemistry, earth sciences, or physics is eligible to apply for enrollment, explains William H. Powers, director of the institute at Penn State.

This type of program was introduced at Penn State this year and 20 teachers are enrolled in classes taught in eight communities.

District Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers said: "We need help badly at Camp Tuckahoe Saturday and Sunday, and all adults and older Explorer Scouts who can assist should be there at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. If you can't be there at 9 o'clock, because the need for manpower is great."

May 10 was announced as the deadline for reservation of space for the Haines Safari. Paul Hollinger, camping and activities chairman, announced that because of the Haines Safari, the annual district family picnic scheduled for June 26 will be cancelled and families are urged to picnic at the Haines Safari with their sons on that date.

Seven units have donated $41.55 to the Fiftyth Anniversary tribute to Boy Scouting, Field Executive Rogers announced. The units are Troops 75, 77, 84 and 89, Posts 75 and 77 and Pack 76.

Central Chemical To Sell DuPont Product

Central Chemical Corporation has been appointed regional distributor for Du Pont polyethylene film in its five-state marketing area, according to John D. Ahlstrom, marketing manager for construction and agricultural sales in Du Pont's Film Department.

The new Du Pont distributor, with headquarters in Hagerstown, Md., and regional offices in Butler, Everett, Gettysburg, Milton, and Glen Rock, Pa.; Lockwood and Andover, Ohio; Harrisonburg, Va. and Bridgeville, Del., has been distributing agricultural chemicals for the past 50 years. It will stock the tough plastic film in types specially designed for agricultural uses.

of the Church of the Twelve over against the Church of the Seven was that of the universal concept of the Church of the Seven against the Jewish-Aramaic Church of the Twelve."

Dr. Richardson was one of four speakers at the opening-day lectures. Others were Dr. Raymond T. Stamm, Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Steimle, and the Rev. Dr. Donovan Smucker.

Dr. Stamm conducted the Bible study hour following the opening main service at which the Rev. Dr. Frederick K. Wentz, of the department of historical theology, served as liturgist.

Dr. Steimle, professor of practical theology at the Lutheran Seminary, Philadelphia, delivered the Zimmerman lectures on preaching at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on the theme: "The Preached Word in Action." His lectures were "Word and Deed" and "Doctrine in Action." He also spoke at the 11 a.m. lecture today on "The Problem of Motivation," and he will speak Friday at 10 a.m., on "Exposition as a Method."

"Continuation of Work"

Dr. Steimle, in his morning address, asserted that "in preaching God is present here and now; it is a continuation of the redeeming work of God here and now." "Preaching is rooted in the mighty acts of God in the past as witnessed in Scripture. Preaching is more than something said, it is something done."

In discussing doctrinal preaching, Dr. Steimle noted that all preaching is doctrinal, and thus reflects the aspects of God's activity. "The activity is described doctrinally," he added.

Sociological problems facing the church in the world today were considered by the Rev. Dr. Smucker, assistant professor of religion and chaplain at Lake Forest College, in his talk, "New Dimensions of the Race Problem." Dr. Smucker also will speak today at 3 p.m. on "Class and Caste in the American Church."

Under the auspices of the Women of the Seminary, the chancel play "Job" was presented in the Church of the Abiding Presence. Mrs. Howard Bream directed. The cast included: Thomas Stahl in the title role; Marvin Cain, Donald Haas, Ronald Pierson, John Cochran, James Lau, Herbert Lindewurth, Donna Gardner, Miriam Keyser, Karen Lindewurth, Joan Miller, Marleen Roper, Phyllis Stahl and Beverly Zickeli. Larry Miller served as narrator.

Today's activities included a concert at 10 a.m. by the Seminary Choir under the direction of Robert S. Clippinger; a Bible study hour conducted by Dr. Dr. Stamm at 9, and addresses by Dr. Steimle at 11, Dr. Smucker at 3 p.m. Bishop Hanns Lilje, of Hannover, Germany, who will speak on "The Church in East and West Germany," at 7 p.m.

A reception is planned for Dr. Lilje this evening. Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of the seminary, presided at the sessions and will serve as liturgist for the opening main service at 8:45.

OFFER COURSE
FOR SCIENCE,
MATH STAFFS

UNIVERSITY PARK — A program of instruction for science and mathematics teachers in public, private, and parochial secondary schools will be conducted throughout the state during 1960-61 by the Pennsylvania State University.

The program, which will make possible 250 single course enrollments, is supported by a $29,890 grant from the National Science Foundation. It is designed to improve science and mathematics instruction by enabling teachers to obtain additional information on matters such as research developments in biology, chemistry, earth sciences, mathematics and physics.

The classes will be offered during evening hours or on Saturdays at the Commonwealth Campuses of the University in Altoona, Erie, DuBois, Hazleton, McKeesport, Ogontz and Pottsville as well as at other locations where there is sufficient teacher interest to justify the program.

The program provides full tuition of $60 for each semester course and other allowances and any secondary teacher now in service and teaching at least one full course in mathematics, biology, chemistry, earth sciences, or physics is eligible to apply for enrollment, explains William H. Powers, director of the institute at Penn State.

This type of program was introduced at Penn State this year and 20 teachers are enrolled in classes taught in eight communities.

County Red Cross Chapter Re-Elects Mrs. Lewars As Chairman

Reports Given: A year's work by the Adams County Chapter of the American Red Cross was reviewed and officers for the coming year were elected at the annual membership meeting Thursday evening in the court house.

Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars was re-elected chapter chairman and Mrs. Donald P. McPherson Sr. was chosen vice chairman for another year; Harry L. Snyder, treasurer; Miss Margaret McHenry, Junior secretary; Mrs. C. Harold Johnson, secretary to the executive board; Miss Margaret McHenry, Junior Red Cross secretary, and Ira Y. Baker, Junior Red Cross chairman.

New Group Will Push Interests Of Lincoln Road

One hundred and fifty business men representing nearly every community on the Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway took the first steps toward forming a permanent Pennsylvania Lincoln Highway association at an interesting meeting in Bedford Thursday night, when they were told that the Pennsylvania Highway Department tended to do no construction work on Lincoln highway traffic is determined.

First Known Woman Editor And Publisher Of Newspaper In Gettysburg And In State Announces Policy Of Staunch Convictions

Five days after the death of Robert Harper, first editor and publisher of Gettysburg and Adams County, and founder of "The Adams Centinel" November 12, 1800, his widow, Priscilla Harper announced "To The Public" her intention to "carry on" in the "capacity of Editor of a public Journal." Thus it was that one hundred and twenty-four years ago Gettysburg and Adams county came to the fore with the distinction of presenting, so far as can be determined, the first woman editor and publisher of a newspaper in Pennsylvania.

Farmers Need Sunny Day To Catch Up With Planting

Harrisburg (AP)—Crop and weather experts looked to the skies today in hopes of finding signs of continued sunny weather to give the Pennsylvania farmers a chance to catch up with their delayed spring planting. Although last month was "by no means a record breaker" so far as rain and cold weather are concerned, it was bad enough to set back outdoor farm work about three weeks.

Charles Morris Young, Native Of Gettysburg, Shows Paintings

The paintings of Charles Morris Young, a native of Gettysburg, were placed on display recently in Philadelphia. Mr. Young, whose parents were Christopher and Annie Young, of Gettysburg, is well-known for his paintings of the Radnor countryside and marine subjects in Maine.

Ira Y. Baker Is Nominated For Lions Governor

Ira Y. Baker, superintendent of Adams county public schools and former president of the Gettysburg Lions club, was nominated for the post of district governor of Lions clubs in 14 counties—where there are more than 1,600 Lions—during the annual spring regional dinner meeting and Ladies' Night Monday evening at Shippensburg.

Y. S. Lions Boost Library Project

The York Springs Lions club has announced a public meeting in the York Springs high school on Friday evening, May 10, in the interest of promoting the formation of an Adams county public library. This meeting will be attended by John H. Knickerbocker, Gettysburg librarian, who will address the public gathering and present facts and information relative to the creation of a county library.

Today's Talk

MOVE!

Folks who stand in one place too long wear out the very ground that should hold them up. Change is a stimulant. It prods the mind and keeps the body supple.

There is a difference between sticking to one purpose and hanging on to but one idea. Ofttimes a single purpose needs a hundred, or more, ideas to carry it through. The big thing is to keep linking your ideas to the main idea of life. But you must move!

The broadest thinking man is always the most widely read and traveled. Men's different viewpoints and the world's marvelous creations stir the imagination and link conceits.

Stay at one job so long as you feel growth within you. If you feel that lethargic grip at your heart that seems to slow its hope—move! There is no task more fascinating than that of the discoverer. It is such a one who breakfasts on hope and at night-time dines out with it. For his is a life of movement.

The moving stream never gets stagnant. Its water is always fresh, and there is life playing within its body. Flowers smile at its passing while song birds gather to match their music with its ripples.

Move—if you would experience the thrills of life. But, as you move, take whole crowds of enthusiasts along with you. No moving human ever brooded for long. The active life is the life of joy—clear through. Keep moving!

The small boy now will skip from school,

The man will leave his work;

The banker, too, will quit his stool,

And likewise will the clerk;

The cash boy's grandmamma will die,

And the office boy will rack his brain for some good, useful lie—

Our ball team has come back.

The pastor, too, will leave his flock

And on the bleachers shout;

At just 1:30 by the clock,

The whole town will turn out.

18,846 VD Cases Reported In 1959

HARRISBURG (AP)—These were 18,846 cases of venereal disease reported in the state last year, health secretary Charles L. Wilbur said today.

This was the highest number in 13 years and 7,438 above the total reported in 1958.

Dr. Wilbur said the increase was attributable in part to co-operation from private physicians in reporting cases.

The number of reported cases of infectious syphilis among teenagers more than doubled, he added. There were 25 in this category in 1958 and 56 last year.

AREA AID BILL

PASSES HOUSE;

GOES BACK TO SENATE TODAY

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—House passage moved a 251 million dollar area redevelopment bill back to the Senate today and put it a step closer to an expected veto. Its fate could become a major political issue in the presidential campaign.

Designed to give an economic lift to urban and rural areas depressed by chronic unemployment and loss of industry, the bill provides for 198 million dollars more than President Eisenhower had proposed. Its total is only slightly less than was provided in a similar bill vetoed by the President as too costly two years ago.

The decisive House vote came after nine hours of argument and maneuvering during which the bill's opponents resorted to various maneuvers to block consideration. Less than three hours of the session was used for actual debate on the bill's merits.

The House passed the bill 201-184 over the opposition of most Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Voting for the measure were 178 Democrats and 23 Republicans. Against it were 69 Democrats and 115 Republicans.

Far Short Of Overriding

The final vote was far short of the two-thirds necessary to override a veto which GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana hinted broadly would be forthcoming.

One of the bill's principal supporters, Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.), predicted that the Senate would accept the House version rather than run the risk of sending the measure to a conference committee. The Senate has voted for a 389½ million dollar measure.

Should the measure go to conference, it would face another threat from the House Rules Committee which previously had refused to clear it and forced its consideration Wednesday under a seldom-used rule bypassing the committee.

75 Million In Loans

As it cleared the House, the bill provided for 75 million dollars in loans for urban industrial development, 75 million in loans for rural development, 50 million in loans for construction of public facilities, 35 million in grants for public facilities, 4½ million for technical assistance grants, 1½ million for vocational training grants and 10 million in grants to retrain workers for new jobs.

An estimated 32 major industrial areas, more than 100 smaller areas and several hundred rural counties would be eligible for assistance in one form or another.

Will Queen Give Title To

Antony Armstrong-Jones?

By DENNIS NEED

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's wedding eve and the big question today was whether she would marry a commoner.

Or will Queen Elizabeth II elevate bridegroom-to-be Antony Armstrong-Jones to the peerage? If Armstrong-Jones goes to the altar Friday in Westminster Abbey without a title, Margaret will be the first English princess in 450 years to marry a plain mister.

Britons today were debating whether such a break with tradition would be good or bad.

Final preparations went ahead for the big event, which has drawn thousands of tourists from the United States and Europe three weeks before the start of the usual tourist season.

By tonight the stage will be set, the route from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey bright with flowers, and the first spectators will be taking up places for an overnight wait on the sidewalk.

Expect Great Crowds

The crowds are expected to be the greatest since Elizabeth's coronation. Thousands of extra police were called into the city to control them.

Fifty thousand cheering fans mobbed the princess and Armstrong-Jones Wednesday night as they were driven to the 1,000-guest reception and dinner dance the Queen and Prince Philip gave for them at Buckingham Palace.

Mounted police shepherded the big maroon Rolls Royce through as the crowd broke through police lines and slowed the car to a crawl. Margaret and her fiancé waved and smiled as shouts of "good luck!" went up from the mass of struggling men and women.

STOCKING OF TROUT IN PA. LESS THAN '59

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Fish Commission said today the quality of the water supply for its Centre County hatcheries may cut down on the over-all number of trout stocked this year.

"We suspect we may not do quite as well this year because of production problems at Spring Creek," said Dr. A. S. Hazzard, assistant executive director of the commission.

Last year the commission stocked 1,556,883 trout by the beginning of the season and planted a total of 2,258,322 during the year.

Bad Weather Interfered

Bad weather last month made many roads impassable, especially in mountainous areas of the northern tier counties, and stocking was held up in several streams.

Hazzard said pre-season stocking plans were completed last week and a total of 1,576,960 trout have been planted so far.

"The more important streams are given one or two additional plantings during the season," Hazzard said. "Some we can't stock during the season because the temperature gets too high or the water level gets too low."

He said he was not sure if the additional stockings this year would bring the total up to last year's figure due to the cutback in production at the Benner Springs Hatchery.

Production Impaired
"Production in the Upper Spring Creek Hatchery has been impaired by the water quality and the water supply from Spring Creek has caused us to stop the operation of one of the raceways" at the other hatchery location, the Fish Commission official said.

Normally, he said, the raceway produces about 200,000 trout.

Not Good For Fish

Hazzard said the water from Spring Creek, which supplies part of the water for the two Centre County hatchery locations, meets public health requirements. But, he said, it was not as good for raising young fish.

Results of a recent Fish Commission survey showed that some 52 per cent of the people who buy licenses in Pennsylvania fish for trout.

Reports received by the commission so far indicate the majority of fishermen are reasonably satisfied with conditions this year.

Reports Presented

Kenneth Eyer of the building committee noted that the materials have been secured for the trestles to be built for entertainment stands for the carnival, and members are asked to be at his shop on Boyer St. on Tuesday, May 17.

President Wallick reported for the anniversary souvenir booklet committee, stating the preliminary preparations are nearly completed. Leslie Shinham distributed books to the members in attendance and all members of the company will be contacted. Paul Altoff also gave financial reports on the canteen and on the anniversary fund raising project.

Paul Altoff of the steering committee reported that the committee has held a meeting and made plans to attend a number of parades, the first one in Taneytown.

Three Drill Captains
Bernard G. Kebil, Clayton L. Evans and Glenn E. Unger will alternate as drill captains for the uniform rank, depending on their availability at the time of parades. Fifty-five members designated their intention of participating in the rank this year. A number of uniforms are available if anyone

At the conclusion of business, refreshments were served to approximately 40 members in attendance by Clair Redding, Donald Cook and David Little.

LITTLESTOWN'S

SCHOOL TAX IS

UP FOUR MILLS

The tentative budget was presented and adopted at the May meeting of the Littlestown Borough School Board held on Tuesday evening at the high school building. The real estate tax of 36 mills is based on a property assessed valuation of $1,762,175 with per capita taxes on 1,600 persons.

The budget for the ensuing year is anticipated as follows: Expenses, $3,500; fixed charges, $48; rental on Rolling Acres Elementary School, $12,320; rental on the junior-senior high school, $47,460; Littlestown Joint School Board for teacher salaries, supplies, maintenance, etc., $133,356.96; a total of $196,604.96. Estimated receipts: $20,000 deposit certificate; appropriation for teacher salaries, $71,336; closed school, $400; transportation, $6,700; school nurse, $1,200; reimbursement for Rolling Acres rental, $4,700; junior-senior high school rental, $19,939; local per capita taxes, $15; totaling $24,000; 36 mills real estate, an increase of four mills over last year, $61,200; real estate transfer taxes, $2,000; total estimated receipts, $207,304, including a starting balance.

Present for the session were President Karl P. Bankert, Wilbur E. Mackley, Lloyd E. Crouse, Richard A. Maitland and Henry E. Waltman, directors, and Luther W. Ritter, secretary. Bills ordered paid to the jointure, $11,644.24; Evening Sun for advertising, $14.30; Times and News Publishing Company, $16.05. A $20,000 certificate was deposited with the Littlestown National Bank for six months.

One bid was received for the sale of the E. King St. school building from the local borough council. No final action was taken on the bid. A resolution of authority for the use of the new junior-senior high school for the Authority Board was adopted. The lease of the school authority was approved. Solicitor Daniel E. Teeter was notified to prepare the fiscal year tax announcements. The board accounts for the fiscal year for the ensuing year will be transferred to the Littlestown State Bank.

Luther W. Ritter resigned as board secretary effective July 1 and Wilbur Mackley was elected to fill the vacancy. Lloyd Crouse was re-elected treasurer. The directors will meet again on Tuesday, June 14.

Yankees Defeat Detroit's Lary 4-2 For Second Time In 2 Years; Orioles Win

By ED WILKS

The New York Yankees now have proof of something they've suspected for some time—it would be a lot easier to sail into first place in the American League if they could do something about shaking loose from the Detroit Tigers and Frank Lary.

They did just that Wednesday, beating Lary for only the second time in two years with a 4-2 decision that gave them a half-game lead over Chicago's White Sox. Baltimore dropped the Sox to second by beating the defending champs 6-4 Wednesday night.

Washington barred Cleveland from a second place tie with a 7-6 victory over the Indians. The Kansas City As beat Boston 5-3 and jumped free of the cellar as Detroit plunked in with an eighth straight loss.

A six-hit pitching job by rookie Bill Short (2-1) and Elston Howard's two-run homer in the sixth inning made it two in a row over Detroit for the Yankees. Howard, nursing a sore hand, energized the game when catcher Yogi Berra was tossed out by plate umpire John Flaherty for disputing a call in the fourth inning.

Lary (1-2) gave up six hits while losing for the seventh time in 28 career decisions against New York. He's won 12 of the last 15.

The Orioles rapped the White Sox with a four-run seventh inning capped by Brooks Robinson's two-run single after Al Smith's error had enabled the Birds to tie it 4-4. Frank Baumann (1-1) was the loser in relief of Early Wynn.

Hoyt Wilhelm (1-1) was the winner.

Jim Lemon drove in Washington's last four runs, bringing the Senators from behind with a two-run homer in the seventh for their eighth straight one-run decision and 12th in their 14 games.

Hal Woodeshick (1-0) was the winner in relief, Hal Briggs (1-1) lost it in relief.

The As, winning on the road for the first time in eight tries, broke a shutout duel between winner Dick Hall (2-0) and Tom Brewer (0-2) with three runs in the fifth.

2,480 ENTER CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF TOURNEY

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven past winners and titleholders from four other nations are in the record field of 2,480 seeking the 60th U. S. Open golf championship this year.

Arnold Palmer, Masters champion and king of the rugged pro, also is in the list which includes British Open champion Gary Player of South Africa, International Trophy winner Stan Leonard of Canada, South African champion Dennis Hutchinson, and the Canada Cup titleholders, Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia.

The U.S. Golf Assn., announcing the close of the entry list Wednesday night, said the field includes virtually every top name in the sport.

Double Round

A double round of 36-hole trials will reduce the record entry to a compact 150, who will go to the tee at the Cherry Hills Country Club in Denver, Colo., June 16-18.

Most of the top contenders will be allowed to skip the first of these eliminations—local qualifying tests in 59 cities May 23 and 24. All except a select 21 must take their chances in the sectional trials slated in four centers June 6 and in eight others June 7.

Topping the exempt list is Bill Calip Jr., from Happy Valley, Calif., who won the title last year at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y. He gets free entry into the tournament proper along with three of the five past champions—Tommy Bolt, Cary Middlecott and Jack Fleck—plus invited outside champions and players who finished in the top ten or tied for at least tenth in the 1959 event.

TIGER FLOYD IS DEFEATED BY JOHNSON

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "This makes you look sick, but what can you do when you need work?"

Pat Olivieri was talking about Harold Johnson's unanimous decision over Clarence (Tiger) Floyd at Convention Hall Wednesday night.

Olivieri, manager of Johnson, was as disgusted with the 10-rounder as were the 1,683 fans who turned out for the nationally televised contest.

Johnson, No. 1 contender for Archie Moore's light heavyweight title, spent the entire fight chasing the retreating Floyd. When he caught up with the 27-year-old New Yorker, which wasn't too often, Johnson piled up enough points with solid left jabs and hooks to win a easy verdict.

All of the action came in the last two rounds when Johnson cornered the clowning Floyd in a neutral corner and pounded him with right and left hand shots that stung the loser into fighting back.

The 50-41, 49-41, 50-40 scoring of the referee and two judges was generous to Floyd to say the least. The Associated Press carded Johnson a 50-32 winner.

Floyd, who fought his way into light heavyweight prominence with an upset here last March over then unbeaten Von Clay, now has a 10-8 record.

The 31-year-old Johnson earned his 12th straight victory boasting his career record to 63-8.

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's big man this year, has garnered $47,700 in 14 tournaments entered this season.

The weekly standings released by the Professional Golfers Assn. show Palmer, who plays out of Ligonier, Pa., winning five of the tournaments and placing in the top five in nine others.

Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta was second with $25,300 from 11 tournaments. Ken Venturi of Palo Alto, Calif., was third with $23,500 from nine events.

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Wiffie Smith, the defending champion is favored to win her third consecutive Peach Blossom Women's Open golf tournament beginning today at the Spartanburg Country Club.

A field of 26 pros and four amateurs will begin teeing off at noon in the 54-hole $6,000 affair. Betsy Rawls, the host pro, will share the role of favorite. Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., Joyce Ziske, of Waterford, Wis., and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, are strong threats.

Major League Stars

Pitching — Bob Buhl, Braves, kept Milwaukee in fourth place with three-hit 2-1 victory over the Dodgers.

Hitting — Jim Lemon, Senators, scored twice and drove in last four runs in 7-6 victory over the Indians, overcoming a 6-5 deficit with a two-run homer in the seventh.

Yankees Defeat Detroit's Lary 4-2 For Second Time In 2 Years; Orioles Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees now have proof of something they've suspected for some time—it would be a lot easier to sail into first place in the American League if they could do something about shaking loose from the Detroit Tigers and Frank Lary.

They did just that Wednesday, beating Lary for only the second time in two years with a 4-2 decision that gave them a half-game lead over Chicago's White Sox. Baltimore dropped the Sox to second by beating the defending champs 6-4 Wednesday night.

Washington barred Cleveland from a second place tie with a 7-4 victory over the Indians. The Kansas City As beat Boston 5-3 and jumped free of the cellar as Detroit plunked in with an eighth straight loss.

A six-hit pitching job by rookie Bill Short (2-1) and Elston Howard's two-run homer in the sixth inning made it two in a row over Detroit for the Yankees. Howard, nursing a sore hand, entered the game when catcher Yogi Berra was tossed out by plate umpire John Flaherty for disputing a call in the fourth inning.

Lary (1-2) gave up six hits while losing for the seventh time in 28 career decisions against New York. He's won 12 of the last 15.

The Orioles rapped the White Sox with a four-run seventh inning capped by Brooks Robinson's two-run single after Al Smith's error had enabled the Birds to tie it 4-4. Frank Baumann (1-1) was the loser in relief of Early Wynn.

Hot Wilhelm (1-1) was the winner.

Jim Lemon drove in Washington's last four runs, bringing the Senators from behind with a two-run homer in the seventh for their eighth straight one-run decision and 12th in their 14 games.

Hal Woodeshick (1-0) was the winner in relief. Hal Briggs (1-1) lost it in relief.

The As, winning on the road for the first time in eight tries, broke a shutout duel between winner Dick Hall (2-0) and Tom Brewer (0-2) with three runs in the fifth.

2,480 ENTER CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF TOURNEY

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven past winners and titleholders from four other nations are in the record field of 2,480 seeking the 60th U. S. Open golf championship this year.

Arnold Palmer, Masters champion and king of the rugged golf tour, also is in the list which includes British Open champion Gary Player of South Africa, International Trophy winner Stan Leonard of Canada, South African champion Dennis Hutchinson, and the Canada Cup titleholders, Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia.

The U.S. Golf Assn., announcing the close of the entry list Wednesday night, said the field includes virtually every top name in the sport.

Double Round
A double round of 36-hole trials will reduce the record entry to a compact 150, who will go to the tee at the Cherry Hills Country Club in Denver, Colo., June 16-18.

Most of the top contenders will be allowed to skip the first of these eliminations—local qualifying tests in 59 cities May 23 and 24. All except a select 21 must take their chances in the sectional trials slated in four centers June 6 and in eight others June 7.

Topping the exempt list is Bill Casper Jr., from Happy Valley, Calif., who won the title last year at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y. He gets free entry into the tournament proper along with three of the five past champions—Tommy Bolt, Cary Middlecoff and Jack Fleck—plus invited outside champions and players who finished in the top ten or tied for at least tenth in the 1959 event.

Trojan Trackmen Meet Warriors Here On Friday

The Gettysburg High School track team will go after its third straight dual triumph when it meets Chambersburg here Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Originally the meet was scheduled for April 8 but was postponed because of lack of conditioning at that time for both squads due to inclement weather.

Coach George Forney's squad defeated Hanover and Waynesboro in previous dual affairs.

TIGER FLOYD IS DEFEATED BY JOHNSON

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"This makes you look sick, but what can you do when you need work."

Pat Olivieri was talking about Harold Johnson's unanimous decision over Clarence (Tiger) Floyd at Convention Hall Wednesday night.

Olivieri, manager of Johnson, was as disgusted with the 10-rounders as were the 1,683 fans who turned out for the nationally televised contest.

Johnson, No. 1 contender for Archie Moore's light heavyweight title, spent the entire fight chasing the retreating Floyd. When he caught up with the 27-year-old New Yorker, which wasn't too often, Johnson piled up enough points with solid left jabs and hooks to win an easy verdict.

All of the action came in the last two rounds when Johnson cornered the clowning Floyd in a neutral corner and pounded him with right and left hand shots that stung the loser into fighting back.

The 30-41, 49-41, 50-40 scoring of the referee and two judges was generous to Floyd to say the least. The Associated Press carded Johnson a 50-32 winner.

Floyd, who fought his way into light heavyweight prominence with an upset here last March over unbeaten Von Clay, now has a 10-8 record.

The 31-year-old Johnson earned his 12th straight victory boosting his career record to 63-8.

Buhl Hurls 3-Hitter To Beat Dodgers For Braves; McLish Wins Four-Hitter

GRIMM FIRED AS PILOT OF CHICAGO CUBS

By JAN HARTNETT

CHICAGO (AP)—In an unprecedented baseball switch, former American League pilot Lou Boudreau today took over from Charlie Grimm as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

In effect, Boudreau handed a radio microphone to 62-year-old Grimm in exchange for manager-ship of the wobbly Cubs after a typically abrupt decision by Cub owner P. K. Wrigley Wednesday.

The unpredictable Wrigley, who on three separate occasions had named Grimm as Cub boss, decided he didn't want to see jolly Cholly "take a beating" and named Boudreau, 42, manager as "just plain common sense."

Takes Over Today
Boudreau former star shortstop and manager of the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and Kansas City As took over direction of the Cubs shortly after the Chicagoans posted a 5-1 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Boudreau has been a commentator on Cub games for the past two seasons. He supplemented the play-by-play by Jack Quinlan on WGN.

Now, the pride of suburban Harvey, Ill.—an athletic legend on the University of Illinois campus—can translate into action some of the ideas which he said have been going through his mind in the broadcasting booth.

Boudreau, who was replaced by Harry Craft as manager of the Kansas City As in 1957, said it was a good feeling to get back into uniform again, but in particular the uniform of the Chicago Cubs.

Boudreau was to meet with the players and Grimm today.

Canners Fourth In Sheppard Relays

Biglerville High's trackmen finished fourth in the Class B events of the 11th annual Sonny Sheppard Relays held Wednesday night on the Hanover High field.

Don Sterner's relay team of Kermit Jacoby, John Alexander, John Byerly and Hershey Bowers finished second in the medley relay and fourth in the 440-yard relay.

Williamsport won its fourth straight Class A title with 18½ points. Other team scores were: York, 16; Hanover, 7; York Central, 5½; York Suburban, 4; Big Spring, Cedar Cliff and Dallas-town, 3 each.

Class B scores follow: Columbia, 16; Scotland, 14; Annville-Cleona, 10; Biglerville, six; Camp Hill, West York, five each; Kennard-Dale, North Carroll, Md., one and one-half each; South West, one; Greencastle and Northern failed to score.

Eastern League
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Eastern League appears headed for one of its tightest pennant races in years if early showings mean anything.

First it was the Williamsport Grays who got buried in the cellar after losing five in a row, but they dug out by coming back with four straight wins only to have the streak snapped Wednesday night in a 6-1 loss to Reading.

Then it appeared the Binghamton Triplets would be the push-over club. They were 1-5 Sunday but now are 4-5 and riding a three-game winning streak after Wednesday night's 10-0 shutout over Allentown.

In the only other game, Lancaster defeated Springfield 6-2.

Thus the Giants failed to gain on the A-Sox who still lead by two games. Williamsport and Reading are tied for third with 67 marks, 2½ games off the pace. Lancaster (5-6) is fifth by 11 percentage points over Binghamton. But both the Red Sox and Triplets are only 2½ games from the top.

The Los Angeles Dodgers now have found Bob Buhl to be just as tough as ever.

The bushy-browed right-hander pitched Milwaukee's Braves to a 2-1 victory with a three-hitter at Los Angeles Wednesday night, beating the Dodgers for the fourth time in a row as Del Crandall singled home a run in the second inning and then homered in the ninth.

It was the Dodgers' ninth defeat in their last dozen games and their fourth straight, dropping the fifth place champs two games below .500.

Bucs Hold Lead
Pittsburgh retained a one-game lead, although the Chicago Cubs—unaware they were playing their final game under manager Charlie Grimm—dealt the Pirates a second consecutive defeat, 5-1. Second place San Francisco blew a chance for a first place tie, losing 3-2 to Cincinnati as Cal McLish won his first with a four-hitter. Fourth place St. Louis made it nine out of 11 by beating Philadelphia 5-3.

Buhl (2-1) had to duel Don Drysdale all the way for this one. Drysdale (3-3) gave up eight hits while going the distance for the fifth time in six

Religion, Mental Health

By REV. EDWIN P. ELLIOTT, PASTOR
Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church

Whom do you know that is in trouble? Count them on your fingers. Janet has lost her husband. Jim is rapidly becoming alcoholic. Frank and Elaine are getting a divorce. Roy has gone to the hospital with ulcers. Joe was caught stealing a car. Ruth hears voices telling her that the "Sons of Probovitch" are plotting to kill her. Betty threatened to commit suicide. The list might be made long and include almost every range of human conduct. Nearly everyone has times when he feels that things are not going as well with him as they ought.

The twentieth century has grown a whole crop of names for our troubles. Some of them are being accepted into the everyday speech. In the restaurant, on the bus, or at work one hears people using words like neurotic, psychotic, schizophrenic, paranoid, suicidal, depressed, anxiety, Beat Generation, drug addict, juvenile delinquent, and many more. There is a consumer demand for words to talk about the way people feel as they try to face life and find themselves slipping.

Two Professional Groups
Two professional groups, the psychiatrists and the clergy, share a concern to help people with mental health problems. There are about 350,000 clergymen and less than 10,000 psychiatrists in the United States. In the past there has sometimes been a hostility between the two groups. The size of the mental health problem in recent years has encouraged these professions to work together seeking to exchange methods and insights. More and more ministers are including psychiatric studies in their preparation or are taking time for clinical training in a mental hospital.

The methods and ways of expression of the two groups are different, but often it is possible to describe a sick human being in either psychiatric or religious language. Treatment may require insights from both groups.

Study of the Bible or other ancient religious writing from the psychiatric point of view reveals that religious faith provides many tried and accepted ways of meeting modern mental ills.

Churches and synagogues have done much by way of preventing the development of mental ills. The individual is accepted into the worshipping community and given training and encouragement to live a wholesome life. Birth, adolescence, marriage, death and other crisis situations are marked by ceremonies which unite the person to his church and God. The church teaches its members to see life in terms of a relationship to the family, church, community, world, and God so that each finds a place in the ongoing life of the community. The responsibilities placed upon members give them occasions to grow into their best possible selves.

The church helps with specific mental problems. Through the church a man may seek and find forgiveness for his sin. The freedom which comes to one who knows the cleansing love of God is a blessing beyond measure. Christianity has the most penetrating and the most constructive solution ever offered for the tremendous problems growing out of human guilt.

Our country is full of lonely, bitter, or disillusioned people. Hatreds and tensions between races, nations, classes and individuals tear men apart. The Christian teaching of love is an effective answer. No one can associate very much with a church without hearing Christ's command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Even though the word is not often heard in a way that moves conduct, it is a healing medicine poured into the hearts and motives of people. It is the hope of the healing of the nations.

A third type of help is found through faith in God. Religious faith is necessary to cure the basic anxiety which grows within all. Anxiety which is sometimes justified but more often the work of spontaneous imagination grows within everyone. Only as this is dissolved by genuine faith in God can mental healing be found.

By its formal teaching program the church points out many problems which must be faced and gives ways of solving them. For example, the temptations to steal, kill, hate, commit adultery, and covet are recognized and better ways to live are taught in their place.

"Glorified Society"

The distinguished writer, Anton T. Boisen, maintains that all functional mental illnesses are basically religious in nature. They must be thought of as ways of seeking final religious meaning in life. Dr. Boisen further says, "The salvation offered in the New Testament is likewise in terms of membership in a group, not, however, a national group but a new and glorified society. . . . Jesus came therefore preaching that the Kingdom of God was at hand and calling upon the people of His time to seek membership therein. To belong to that Kingdom was of such vital importance that in order to obtain it a man must be willing to give up all that he has, even his earthly life. On the basis of membership in that kingdom and on that basis alone was salvation to be found; and riches, honor, ethical complacency and all that might induce a false sense of security made salvation very difficult. . . . Mental health is not an individual matter. It has to do with our consciousness of right and wrong relationships to those whom we account worthy of love and honor. The deepest desire of every human heart is that for love. No individual can live for himself alone."

Church Helps People

The church exists to help people. Through group instruction, in the preaching services, and through private counseling the minister is expected to reach out to bring the healing love of God where it is needed. It is not necessary for a person to be a member of a church to avail himself of the clergyman's services; he is available on the basis of human need and distress.

Many Christian people other than ministers become quite skilled in helping people with their problems. The experience of living a Christian life opens up resources in the faith which may be richly shared in different ways.

New Life Starts Friday For Princess Margaret

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Friday a new life starts for Princess Margaret, matron.

And a fascinating young married life it certainly should be—a mixture of the royal rigidity she has known since childhood and the gay bohemianism in which Tony Armstrong-Jones feels most at home.

Despite her occasional taste for a fling, Margaret always has loved the pomp and position of royalty. Someone once asked if she did not find the royal round wearisome.

Soon Will Be 30
Back snapped the answer: "I can think of nothing more wonderful than being what I am."

Close friends, for this reason, discount suggestions that the princess is tired of life in the headlines, that she wants to withdraw to a quiet country love nest.

The princess will be 30 in August. Like any other couple marrying late, Margaret and Tony will hope to start a family as soon as possible.

Given Apartment
The Queen has given them an apartment in Kensington Palace with only three usable bedrooms. It is not enough for raising a family in even half-royal style.

Small though their first home will be, Margaret will not be expected to give a hand with the dusting. The attic and basement have plenty of room for servants.

Nor will Margaret kiss husband goodby on the doorstep each morning as other wives do. For one thing, Tony gave up work as a photographer in favor of marriage. For another, Margaret likes breakfast in bed—and late.

Not Domestic Type
As for cooking, it's a safe bet that Tony—not Margaret—will be the one to whip up those cozy late-night snacks when the staff have gone to bed. Margaret has never been known as the domesticated type. But Tony, after long years in bachelor snuggeries, is a hand with sauce and skillet.

As soon as she marries, Margaret's annual allowance from the taxpayer jumps from 6,000 pounds ($16,800) to 15,000 pounds ($42,000) a year. Taxes will take about a third. That leaves not much for regal living.

Tony could take a job, though the field is limited. Photography apparently is out. The royal family could not see him in any form of commerce. Probably he will follow the example of Margaret's cousin, the Earl of Harewood, who is the salaried director of the Edinburgh International Festival.

Plenty Of Money
All the odds, however, suggest that neither Margaret nor her husband will ever be short of spending money. Margaret received hefty tax-free legacies from old Queen Mary, who doted on her, and from her father, King George VI.

So by any standards — beauty, intelligence, position or wealth — Margaret makes a winning bride. And her future looks as rosy as any bride could wish.

No Warning
"By employing this technique, merchants will have no advance knowledge of the bureau's intention to inspect his records."

In addition to the 4 per cent sales tax, a check will be made of the "use" tax. The "use" tax works his way: tidip mpoe moae re'tuatelyr

If a Pennsylvanian buys a new auto or other taxable articles in a state which might have a two per cent tax he must pay an additional two per cent to Pennsylvania. Should the other state not have a sales tax the purchaser must pay Pennsylvania a full 4 per cent tax.

To Check Records
Jerome Seder, assistant to Joseph Andrews, executive deputy secretary of revenue, has been designated to co-ordinate the new enforcement program.

Seder said investigators will be "given assignments primarily in business districts where door-to-door checks will be made."

Investigators will ask vendors to produce their sales and use tax licenses, sales and use tax statements for the last quarter of 1959 and the initial quarter of 1960, and evidence of tax payments.

GET FIVE MORE REQUESTS FOR TRACKS IN PA.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Harness Racing Commission has received five more requests for track license applications.

Although several requests already are on file no applications have been sent out yet, the commission added Wednesday.

Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Luzerne, Northumberland and Philadelphia counties approved pari-mutuel betting on harness races at the primary election last week.

New Names On List
New requests for applications were received from Robert W. Valimont, Doylestown, for Bucks County; C. A. Wade, West Chester, for Chester County; John A. Riley, Chester, for Delaware County; Alvin J. Ivers, Philadelphia, and Charles J. Schmitt, Girard, Erie County, president of the Pennsylvania Assn. for Legal Horse Racing.

Ivers and Schmitt did not say what counties were involved in their requests.

Previously, requests had been received from groups representing interests in Delaware, Chester, Northumberland and Luzerne Counties.

LAUNCH NEW DRIVE IN SALES TAX CHECKUPS

By GIB STALEY
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The State Dept. of Revenue today kicked off what it called a "new, hard-hitting sales and use tax enforcement program."

The chief element will be surprise. Agents will move into communities and make quick spot checks to determine if merchants are paying their taxes. It is possible that cheaters may face prosecution.

A community about 30 miles from Pittsburgh reportedly was today's target.

May Be Expanded
If the pilot operation proves successful in 16 western Pennsylvania counties it is expected to spread statewide, a department spokesman said.

About 30 specially trained field investigators make up the mobile unit.

Revenue Secretary Charles M. Dougherty said each day's operation will be clouded in secrecy. Investigators "will have no advance knowledge of each day's area of operation since the destination will not be disclosed until immediately prior to departure," Dougherty said, adding:

No Warning
"By employing this technique, merchants will have no advance knowledge of the bureau's intention to inspect his records."

In addition to the 4 per cent sales tax, a check will be made of the "use" tax. The "use" tax works his way:

If a Pennsylvanian buys a new auto or other taxable articles in a state which might have a two per cent tax he must pay an additional two per cent to Pennsylvania. Should the other state not have a sales tax the purchaser must pay Pennsylvania a full 4 per cent tax.

To Check Records
Jerome Seder, assistant to Joseph Andrews, executive deputy secretary of revenue, has been designated to co-ordinate the new enforcement program.

Seder said investigators will be "given assignments primarily in business districts where door-to-door checks will be made."

Investigators will ask vendors to produce their sales and use tax licenses, sales and use tax statements for the last quarter of 1959 and the initial quarter of 1960, and evidence of tax payments.

SLAYER GETS OFF WITH LIFE IN SHOOTING

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A mercy recommendation in the trial of a confessed multiple slayer may have boosted his chances of dodging Florida's electric chair.

But even if trigger-happy Dennis Whitney goes scot-free in Florida, Arizona and California authorities want him for four other murders he has confessed.

An all-male jury Wednesday convicted the 17-year-old California drifter of first degree murder in the shooting of Virginia Selby. The verdict carried a recommendation of mercy, which means a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

42-Day Series
Dade County (Miami) has a hold order on Whitney for two filling station holdup slayings. But State Attorney Richard E. Gerstein of Dade County said he would confer with Palm Beach County Prosecutor Phil O'Connell before deciding whether to call the pimply-faced defendant to trial in Miami.

"I feel he has been tried for the most brutal killing of all," Gerstein said. He indicated that if O'Connell thinks Whitney might get a death sentence for his Miami crimes, the youth will be tried for them.

Mrs. Selby, 62, was the last of Whitney's seven victims in a 42-day series of holdups between California and Florida. He confessed that he killed one man in California, three in Arizona and two in Florida.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Twenty-one golf professionals faced more than money pressure and par today for the scheduled start of the $42,400 Tournament of Champions.

Wind was the major problem. Gusts that registered from 37 to 42 miles an hour hit the Desert Inn Country Club late Wednesday and the weatherman predicted more today.

Tee-off time for the first two-some was set for 1 p.m. (PDT).

Lineup Of Stars
The field is made up exclusively of golfers who have won one or more officially sanctioned PGA tournaments in the previous 12 months.

Casper and his amateur partner captured first ball honors with a score of 30-32-62 for the par 36-72, 7,100-yard course in a procelebrity event Wednesday.

STATE TAXES DISAPPOINT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Revenues from state taxes is running $16,000,000 below estimates, according to Gov. Lawrence's secretary of administration.

Dr. David H. Kurtzman said Wednesday receipts from the 4 per cent sales tax alone were $16,200,000 below estimates for the first 11 months of the state's two-year fiscal period.
Also running below administration estimates are the selected business taxes, $6,800,000 under;

capital stock taxes, $5,400,000 under, and corporation income taxes $1,300,000 under.
Some of these losses have been offset by an unexpected 6 1/2 million dollar increase in inheritance taxes, $1,100,000 in realty transfer taxes, $800,000 in cigarette taxes, $700,000 in malt beverage taxes and 4 1/2 millions in licenses and fees.

Kurtzman said if May's tax returns don't show an increase there might be an even bigger deficit for the biennium, than the 20 million dollars he predicted.

Casper and his amateur partners captured first ball honors with a score of 30-32-62 for the par 36-72, 7,100-yard course in a procelebrity event Wednesday.

Charles V "the Wise" of France devoted most of his short reign to beautifying Paris. He said: "Other cities are towns; Paris is a world."

STATE TAXES DISAPPOINT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Revenues from state taxes is running $16,600,000 below estimates, according to Gov. Lawrence's secretary of administration.

Dr. David H. Kurtzman said Wednesday receipts from the 4 per cent sales tax alone were $16,200,000 below estimates for the first 11 months of the state's two-year fiscal period.

Also running below administration estimates are the selected business taxes, $6,800,000 under;

capital stock taxes, $5,400,000 under, and corporation income taxes $1,300,000 under.

Some of these losses have been offset by an unexpected 6½ million dollar increase in inheritance taxes, $1,100,000 in realty transfer taxes, $800,000 in cigarette taxes, $700,000 in malt beverage taxes and 4½ millions in licenses and fees.

Kurtzman said if May's tax returns don't show an increase there might be an even bigger deficit for the biennium, than the 20 million dollars he predicted.

The Museum of the Quai Conti in Paris has one of the world's largest collections of rare coins.

ARRESTED FOR FIRING BARN

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Alfred McClenaghan, 22, of Quarryville

R. 2, was arrested here Wednesday and charged with setting a fire on the farm of one sister-in-law, and raping another.

State police Capt. Benjamin O. Lichty said McClenaghan had admitted the crimes.

He said McClenaghan first set fire Tuesday by the barn of the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Watson, near Holtwood, 15 miles south of here. The fire was discovered and put out. Mrs. Watson is the sister of McClenaghan's wife.

Later, a man said his wife had been raped by a masked intruder in the Kirkwood farm, 20 miles southeast of Lancaster. State police refused to identify the woman, but said she was another of McClenaghan's sisters-in-law.

McClenaghan is a laborer for the State Highways Department. He and his wife have a 2-year-old child.

Gamble Benedict
Is "Expecting"

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Heiress Gamble Benedict and Andrei Porumbescu are expecting a baby early next year.

The couple made the announcement at a hotel where Porumbescu, 35, got a job as director of guest relations after he and Gamble, 19, eloped from New York and were married at Hendersonville, N. C.

Bermuda is composed of 360 islands, 20 inhabited.

NAMED — John S. Bragdon, 66, retired Army officer, has been chosen by the President to be a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board. He will succeed James Durfee.

CULPEPER, Va. (AP)—A second grader caused every kid in school here to weep. A tear gas bomb he had found and brought to school exploded.

Court Rules Boss Is Not Responsible For Injuries In Quarrel On His Premises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An employer is not liable for injury inflicted on another person by an employee in a personal quarrel on the business premises, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has ruled.

The decision was handed down Wednesday on an appeal from Beaver County by the Ambridge District Sportsmen's Association and its bartender, Jack Lease.

They appealed against a jury verdict in favor of Howard Marshall, the plaintiff.

Both Lease and Marshall were directors of the club.

Names, Then Blows

Justice Michael J. Eagen, in his summary, said that on May 9, 1955, Marshall "was informed by the bartender that certain accusations had been made against Marshall's sons relative to their alleged pilfering of a couple of bottles of 'pop' from the premises."

Marshall reportedly took offense and called the bartender a vile name. He and Lease got into a fight in which Marshall's leg was broken. Marshall sued the association and Lease.

Eagen said "it will appear (from the record) that no such liability can properly be said to have arisen" since Lease did not fight on any authority given him by the association. Eagen added that Lease did not lay hands on Marshall "so as to ease him out of the place in order to restore order; he was not acting to protect associator property."

Other Decisions

In other decisions, the court:

1. Dismissed an appeal of R. Chapman Carver, of Ivyland, from an order directing him to repay $24,050 he earned from 1948-1955 while a member of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

2. Upheld a Cambria County Court ruling that James Lotito, a fireworks company owner, was not liable for a July 4, 1956, accident injuring Sarah and James Haddon.

"The mere happening of an accident at such an exhibition is not proof of negligence, and of course negligence is never presumed," Eagen said.

Census Taker Has Trouble On Names

CABOT, Ark. (AP)—The woman census taker had called at three houses where the family name was Ray.

At the next house, she introduced herself and asked the man at the door for his name.

"Guess."

"Well," said the census taker, "I suppose if I had to guess I'd say the name was 'Ray'."

"No, no," he explained, "My name is Guess."

verdict of acquittal possible, deprived the defendant of due process of law.

3. Upheld a Cambria County Court ruling that James Lotito, a fireworks company owner, was not liable for a July 4, 1956, accident injuring Sarah and James Haddon.

"The mere happening of an accident at such an exhibition is not proof of negligence, and of course negligence is never presumed," Eagen said.

STAR IS SUEED

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Doug McClure, gun-slinging co-star of the "Overland Trail" TV series, has been sued for divorce by Faye McClure, 21, charged mental cruelty in the suit filed Wednesday. She and McClure, 25, were married in Honolulu in 1957 and separated a week ago.

In 1944 more than one and a quarter billion dollars was legally bet at American horse race tracks.

MR. PRESIDENT

by Patrick and Vinmont

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Born in Braintree, Mass., July 11, 1767. He attended school in Paris and Amsterdam and graduated from Harvard. While studying law he earned his way by writing for newspapers. He was admitted to the bar, 1790.

He was in public service over fifty years. At 27 he was appointed Minister to Holland and successively was Minister to Prussia, a member of the Massachusetts Senate, United States Senator, Minister to Russia, Peace Commissioner at Ghent, Minister to England and Secretary of State.

His favorite pastimes were gardening and writing. His diary, which records events for a half century, is an authoritative political document.

One of four candidates for President in 1824, without a majority of electoral votes, he was chosen by the House of Representatives and inaugurated the sixth President of the United States, March 4, 1825.

Tolerating no political influence, his administration was devoted to extending commercial treaties with foreign nations and encouraging internal improvements. His stand against slavery brought defeat for re-election. Despite more distinguished offers, he returned to the Capitol as a congressman, 1831, and for the next 16 years was a foremost legislative opponent of slavery. He died, February 23, 1848, in Washington, D.C., aged 80.

HENRY CLAY

Born in Hanover County, Virginia, 1777. While a court clerk in Richmond he studied law. Admitted to the bar, 1797, he located in Lexington, Kentucky.

Active in politics at 22 until his death at the age of 75, he served in the State legislature and before he was 34 had filled two unexpired terms in the United States Senate. In 1811 he was elected a member of Congress, chosen speaker and re-elected and chosen speaker five times during the 14 years following. He refused appointments as Minister to Russia and England and twice as Secretary of War. Clay (pictured above) served as Secretary of State in John Q. Adams' cabinet and as United States Senator, 1831-42—1849-52.

Strongly opposed to slavery, he made and promoted numerous compromises in his efforts to solve national problems. Asserting always that the preservation of the Union was his main object and that he would rather be right than President, he was thwarted four times in his life-long ambition to gain that office. He died in 1852.

John Quincy Adams' Vice-President was John C. Calhoun.

MRS. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Born in 1775, in London, where her father was fiscal agent for the American Colonies, Louisa Johnson was carefully educated in England. An infinitely lovely young woman, of face, manner and character, she was married at twenty-two to John Quincy Adams. His diplomatic assignments kept them in Europe for years. Of their five children, three were born abroad. Never robust, Mrs. Adams felt the strain of diplomatic life. Entering the White House at fifty, she was in frail health but performed her duties with a quiet charm and graciousness that endeared her to everyone. She died in 1852.

NAMED — John S. Bragdon, 66, retired Army officer, has been chosen by the President to be a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board. He will succeed James Durfee.

CULPEPER, Va. (AP)—A second grader caused every kid in school here to weep. A tear gas bomb he had found and brought to school exploded.

Court Rules Boss Is Not Responsible For Injuries In Quarrel On His Premises

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An employer is not liable for injury inflicted on another person by an employee in a personal quarrel on the business premises, the Pennsylvania Supreme Court has ruled.

The decision was handed down Wednesday on an appeal from Beaver County by the Ambridge District Sportsmen's Association and its bartender, Jack Lease. They appealed against a jury verdict in favor of Howard Marshall, the plaintiff.

Both Lease and Marshall were directors of the club.

Names, Then Blows
Justice Michael J. Eagen, in his summary, said that on May 9, 1955, Marshall "was informed by the bartender that certain accusations had been made against Marshall's sons relative to their alleged pilfering of a couple of bottles of 'pop' from the premises."

Marshall reportedly took offense and called the bartender a vile name. He and Lease got into a fight in which Marshall's leg was broken. Marshall sued the association and Lease.

Eagen said "it will appear (from the record) that no such liability can properly be said to have arisen" since Lease did not fight on any authority given him by the association. Eagen added that Lease did not lay hands on Marshall "so as to ease him out of the place in order to restore order; he was not acting to protect association property."

Other Decisions

In other decisions, the court: 1. Dismissed an appeal of R. Chapman Carver, of Ivyland, from an order directing him to repay $24,050 he earned from 1948-1955 while a member of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

In upholding the Bucks County Court, Eagen said the Bridge Commission never was given authority to pay its members.

2. Vacated a first degree murder conviction against Eleanor Avid Conklin, of Akron, Ohio, who was sentenced to life in prison for killing her three-year-old son in Cresson two years ago. A new trial was ordered.

Justice Herbert B. Cohen said the Cambria County judge, in telling the jury he did not think a

Census Taker Has Trouble On Names

CABOT, Ark. (AP)—The woman census taker had called at three houses where the family name was Ray.

At the next house, she introduced herself and asked the man at the door for his name.

"Guess."

"Well," said the census taker, "I suppose if I had to guess I'd say the name was 'Ray.'"

"No, no," he explained, "My name is Guess."

verdict of acquittal possible, deprived the defendant of due process of law.

3. Upheld a Cambria County Court ruling that James Lotito, a fireworks company owner, was not liable for a July 4, 1956, accident injuring Sarah and James Haddon.

"The mere happening of an accident at such an exhibition is not proof of negligence, and of course negligence is never presumed," Eagen said.

STAR IS SUED

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Doug McClure, gun-slinging co-star of the "Overland Trail" TV series, has been sued for divorce. Faye McClure, 21, charged mental cruelty in the suit filed Wednesday. She and McClure, 25, were married in Honolulu in 1957 and separated a week ago.

In 1944 more than one and a quarter billion dollars was legally bet at American horse race tracks.

MR. PRESIDENT

by Patrick and Vinmont

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Born in Braintree, Mass., July 11, 1767. He attended school in Paris and Amsterdam and graduated from Harvard. While studying law he earned his way by writing for newspapers. He was admitted to the bar, 1790.

He was in public service over fifty years. At 27 he was appointed Minister to Holland and successively was Minister to Prussia, a member of the Massachusetts Senate, United States Senator, Minister to Russia, Peace Commissioner at Ghent, Minister to England and Secretary of State.

His favorite pastimes were gardening and writing. His diary, which records events for a half century, is an authoritative political document.

One of four candidates for President in 1824, without a majority of electoral votes, he was chosen by the House of Representatives and inaugurated the sixth President of the United States, March 4, 1825.

Tolerating no political influence, his administration was devoted to extending commercial treaties with foreign nations and encouraging internal improvements. His stand against slavery brought defeat for re-election. Despite more distinguished offers, he returned to the Capitol as a congressman, 1831, and for the next 16 years was a foremost legislative opponent of slavery. He died, February 23, 1848, in Washington, D.C., aged 80.

HENRY CLAY

Born in Hanover County, Virginia, 1777. While a court clerk in Richmond he studied law. Admitted to the bar, 1797, he located in Lexington, Kentucky.

Active in politics at 22 until his death at the age of 75, he served in the State legislature and before he was 34 had filled two unexpired terms in the United States Senate. In 1811 he was elected a member of Congress, chosen speaker and re-elected and chosen speaker five times during the 14 years following. He refused appointments as Minister to Russia and England and twice as Secretary of War. Clay (pictured above) served as Secretary of State in John Q. Adams' cabinet and as United States Senator, 1831-42—1849-52.

Strongly opposed to slavery, he made and promoted numerous compromises in his efforts to solve national problems. Asserting always that the preservation of the Union was his main object and that he would rather be right than President, he was thwarted four times in his life-long ambition to gain that office. He died in 1852.

John Quincy Adams' Vice-President was John C. Calhoun.

MRS. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Born in 1775, in London, where her father was fiscal agent for the American Colonies, Louisa Johnson was carefully educated in England. An infinitely lovely young woman, of face, manner and character, she was married at twenty-two to John Quincy Adams. His diplomatic assignments kept them in Europe for years. Of their five children, three were born abroad. Never robust, Mrs. Adams felt the strain of diplomatic life. Entering the White House at fifty, she was in frail health but performed her duties with a quiet charm and graciousness that endeared her to everyone. She died in 1852.

Kentucky Pottery Has Been Operating Well Since 1845

By JULES LOH

BYBEE, Ky. (AP)—Back country folk have a legend the world was made on a potter's wheel. Walter Cornelison doesn't hold to that, but he knows well the antiquity of the craft. He is the to play the potter's trade at the old log building at Bybee.

"I guess my son will take over from me," says Cornelison. "He's only 11, but he's been turning clay several years now."

Young Robert Walter Cornelison will inherit a thriving business when it comes his turn. Pottery from Bybee is sold in each of the 50 states and Canada, and the tiny shop turns out about 500 pieces a day.

No Advertising

Yet the Bybee Pottery spends "nary a penny" on advertising, Cornelison says, beyond the crude, weather-faded sign on the highway-approach side which says the firm has been operating since 1845.

It was natural some early settler should build a kiln at Bybee. Nearby is the old bed of the Kentucky River, rich with clay washed pure white.

"It can be used just as God made it," Cornelison said. "All we do is add branch water and grind it in the pug mill to make it smooth."

The mill, now powered by electricity, was driven for 34 years by a horse named Henry. "We finally got rid of Henry last year," Cornelison says. "He got too doggone mean."

Inside, the shop groans with curiosity.

Many Types

The Bybee Pottery offers 226 different items, and shelf after cluttered shelf sags under the ceramics. On the inside surface of each piece are the tell-tale spiral finger marks of the potter, indicating they were hand turned.

The shelves occupy nearly all available space, floor to ceiling. Where there are no shelves, pieces are stacked on the floor.

The "display room" serves mainly as a store room for mail orders. "We don't get 25 customers a day," Cornelison says. Often the room is left unattended.

Bybee, on state road 52 out of Richmond, Ky., is not even shown on most road maps. But the few customers who venture off the beaten path usually are rewarded.

Floor Raised

The shop's uneven floor is raised six inches by accumulated clay droppings of four generations. The oaken roof and walls are speckled with the bits that have flown from the worn table where Walter beats the air out of the raw material before putting it on the wheel.

"College ceramics students call it wedging the clay," he says. "We just call it beating it."

He holds the big lump high above his head, and splats it down onto the table again and again until it is smooth throughout. Then he weighs a portion on an ancient balance—each piece of pottery must be uniform—and throws the clod onto the center of the wheel. The wheel spins.

Method Told

The potter's hand dips into a bowl of water, muddy with frequent dippings. His right hand holds a small wooden paddle to shape the object on the outside. His left hand presses the clay against the paddle from the inside.

A bowl rises from the wheel incredibly fast.

Then the piece dries, is dipped into one of 18 Cornelison-developed glazes — formulas handed down father to son—and fired in the kiln.

Walter split a sample piece of pottery from top to bottom. He ran his fingers up and down the edge, indicating its uniform thickness.

"That's what makes a potter," he says.

"You've got to have the feel of it. Anybody can make a vase or a mug or a bowl. But the man who makes 150 of them without varying the size or thickness even a fraction—he's a potter."

"In time," he adds, "my son will be a potter."

County Women To Take Part In Home Demonstration Week Observance Here

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
County Home Economist

Adams County women, who take part in the home economics extension program, will observe National Home Demonstration Week, May 1 to 7, on Homemakers Day on May 3 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Littlestown. They will help to acquaint people with the total extension program and emphasize its contribution to home and family living.

MRS. TUNISON

Today home economics extension work takes into account that the homemaker and her family face more and more complex adjustments to the world around them. Fast-changing living patterns, family roles and family relationships in the home and community are broadening the scope of problems confronting families.

Home economics extension is an educational program in better homemaking planned by and for homemakers. It is conducted co-operatively by the Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State University which is the state land-grant university, and the county government.

Through this program women learn to apply the latest results of home economics research and to better use time, energy and money to reach family goals. They realize the importance of choosing essentials to attain a satisfying way of life or themselves and their families.

Garments Need Special Care
Dark and vividly colored cotton garments usually need special attention when laundered. If the label or hang tag gives directions for care, follow them exactly.

Remove grease spots from the garments before laundering — washing may make the spots permanent. To remove them use a grease solvent or work soap or detergent into the soiled area. The back of the collar and cuff edges usually need pre-rubbing with soap or detergent to loosen soil.

Wash dark cotton garments separately from other articles and use fresh suds. Lint from light-colored garments dulls bright or dark colors. Because soap curds left in a fabric can dull colors, rinse garments thoroughly to remove all traces of soap. Never tumble dry dark garments with white or light-colored ones—they will attract lint. Drip drying is often the best way to handle dark fabrics.

Many cottons have a wash and wear finish that gives them body without starching. If a fabric needs starching, use a starch labeled safe for dark cottons. It won't leave white streaks on dark colors. If a dark cotton garment has a wash and wear finish, it will need little or no ironing. Iron or press on the wrong side to prevent shine. If touch-up pressing is needed on the right side, use a press cloth.

Tufting Produces Quality Carpets
Dramatic changes in methods of constructing carpets have been made during the last 10 years. Most persons are familiar with woven carpets but many are in doubt about those made by other methods.

Until the early 1950's weaving was the method used in producing most of the good quality carpets. At that time tufting was introduced. Today more than 50 percent of the carpets produced are tufted because of the speed with which they can be made. Manufacturers use natural and man-made carpet fibers in making tufted carpets. The carpets are comparable in wear and appearance to good quality woven ones.

A consumer may buy a tufted carpet with confidence if it has the features of a good floor covering. Latex backing on tufted carpets locks the tufts or stitches in position and gives body to the carpet. Better grades of tufted carpets have a double back construction. This means that scrim, a loosely woven fabric of jute or a similar substance, has been applied over the latex. Double back construction holds shrinkage or stretching to a minimum and adds stability to a carpet.

BEE INVASION
ANNANDALE, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Sara S. Lindstedt was sitting quietly in her living room when a neighbor youth who had been cutting grass ran into her house followed by a swarm of bees. Mrs. Lindstedt was stung several times but was revived in a hospital.

NEVER TOO OLD — George Maynard, an entrant at 88, makes a shot in annual British marbles title play at Tinsley Green. He's been competing for 80 years.

Playing The Game

(This is the second of four stories written especially for AP Newsfeatures by the American League's most valuable player).

By NELLIE FOX
White Sox Second Baseman
CHICAGO (AP) — On making the double play, get to second base ahead of the ball, if you can. If the throw is bad, you have a better chance to leave the bag and catch the ball.

When you play with shortstops like Luis Aparicio, Chico Carrasquel and Eddie Joost it makes the game easier around second. All my life I've been blessed with good shortstops.

The first two years with Aparicio (1956-'57) I had a lot of trouble with popups behind second. In the first place, I don't speak Spanish, and, at the time, he didn't speak English too well. Now we get along just fine. When he yells I know he's got the ball. And when I yell he knows I'm taking the ball.

Aparicio has a quick pair of hands. He gives you the ball over the bag nearly all the time. That gives me a better chance to catch the ball and get rid of it in a hurry. It also helps you get out of the runner's way before he can break up the DP.

Some shortstops lay back. They toss the ball about the same time the runner gets to you. It's tough to catch the ball, get out of the runner's way and throw at the same time. But with Aparicio he charges the ball well and gives you that real good underhand or sidearm flip, depending on his position.

Ball Always In View
I see the ball nearly all the time when Luis throws it. He throws the ball out from his body, mostly from shoulder high level. It means a great deal on the DP when you see the ball coming toward you.

Say the other team has a runner on first and third with one out. If you want to cut off that run you play in. If you hope to try for the DP, especially if the batter isn't too fast, you play back a bit. Of course, the manager should decide whether to have you play in or back.

There really is no set way in making the double play. But when the opportunity presents itself and there's a right-handed hitter up I always try to cheat a few steps.

I move about four steps toward the infield and maybe two toward second base. That means I already have shortened my running position to second base.

Figures On Throw
When I get to second I wait momentarily and try to figure where the throw will be. If the throw is toward center field I try to hit the bag with my left foot. I have my right foot planted so I can get some stuff on the throw. If the throw is over the bag I try to cross over the bag and drag my left foot. Then I have my right foot planted for the throw.

If a double play ball is hit hard right at some other fielder, and you have plenty of time, try to get to the bag, straddle the bag and touch it with your left foot while making the throw off your right foot.

When you take the throw from the first baseman, many times it would be best to hit the bag with your right foot. You won't get as much on the ball when you throw because you'll be off balance. But you save time.

Must Take Whacks
Second basemen must learn to take their whacks. I think the hardest I've ever been hit in my life was in Philadelphia in 1949. Johnny Lindell knocked me into left field. The Yankees scored two runs while I was out there on the ground holding the ball. That play beat us 2-1.

Of the present day players Bob Cerv of Kansas City comes in hard.

Of course, if you get the ball in plenty of time you can always protect yourself by jumping up in the air. In landing you often fall on the runner. When you're making the DP, completely relax yourself. That way you won't get hurt even if they hit you hard.

When I say a player comes in hard—I mean hard, not dirty. There's the team player and the guy who tries to hurt everybody. Of course, these fellows are trying to break up the double play. I expect to receive rough treatment. That's part of the game.

Hank Bauer of Kansas City come in a bit rough. When he does he throws his legs up and tries to knock you down. But he never tries to get you with his spikes.

Tomorrow: Playing the Hitters.

County Women To Take Part In Home Demonstration Week Observance Here

By MRS. HELEN TUNISON
County Home Economist

Adams County women, who take part in the home economics extension program, will observe National Home Demonstration Week, May 1 to 7, on Homemakers Day on May 3 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Littlestown. They will help to acquaint people with the total extension program and emphasize its contribution to home and family living.

MRS. TUNISON

Today home economics extension work takes into account that the homemaker and her family face more and more complex adjustments to the world around them. Fast-changing living patterns, family roles and family relationships in the home and community are broadening the scope of problems confronting families.

Home economics extension is an educational program in better homemaking planned by and for homemakers. It is conducted co-operatively by the Extension Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State University which is the state land-grant university, and the county government.

Through this program women learn to apply the latest results of home economics research and to better use time, energy and money to reach family goals. They realize the importance of choosing essentials to attain a satisfying way of life or themselves and their families.

Garments Need Special Care
Dark and vividly colored cotton garments usually need special attention when laundered. If the label or hang tag gives directions for care, follow them exactly.

Remove grease spots from the garments before laundering — washing may make the spots permanent. To remove them use a grease solvent or work soap or detergent into the soiled area. The back of the collar and cuff edges usually need pre-rubbing with soap or detergent to loosen soil.

Wash dark cotton garments separately from other articles and use fresh suds. Lint from light-

colored garments dulls bright or dark colors. Because soap curds left in a fabric can dull colors, rinse garments thoroughly to remove all traces of soap. Never tumble dry dark garments with white or light-colored ones—they will attract lint. Drip drying is often the best way to handle dark fabrics.

Many cottons have a wash and wear finish that gives them body without starching. If a fabric needs starching, use a starch labeled safe for dark cottons. It won't leave white streaks on dark colors. If a dark cotton garment has a wash and wear finish, it will need little or no ironing. Iron or press on the wrong side to prevent shine. If touch-up pressing is needed on the right side, use a press cloth.

Tufting Produces Quality Carpets
Dramatic changes in methods of constructing carpets have been made during the last 10 years. Most persons are familiar with woven carpets but many are in doubt about those made by other methods.

Until the early 1950's weaving was the method used in producing most of the good quality carpets. At that time tufting was introduced. Today more than 50 percent of the carpets produced are tufted because of the speed with which they can be made. Manufacturers use natural and man-made carpet fibers in making tufted carpets. The carpets are comparable in wear and appearance to good quality woven ones. A consumer may buy a tufted carpet with confidence if it has the features of a good floor covering.

Latex backing on tufted carpets locks the tufts or stitches in position and gives body to the carpet. Better grades of tufted carpets have a double back construction. This means that scrim, a loosely woven fabric of jute or a similar substance, has been applied over the latex. Double back construction holds shrinkage or stretching to a minimum and adds stability to a carpet.

BEE INVASION

ANNANDALE, Va. (AP)—Mrs. Sara S. Lindstedt was sitting quietly in her living room when a neighbor youth who had been cutting grass ran into her house followed by a swarm of bees. Mrs. Lindstedt was stung several times but was revived in a hospital.

NEVER TOO OLD — George Maynard, an entrant at 88, makes a shot in annual British marbles title play at Tinsley Green. He's been competing for 80 years.

Playing The Game

(This is the second of four stories written especially for AP Newsfeatures by the American League's most valuable player.)

By NELLIE FOX

White Sox Second Baseman
CHICAGO (AP) — On making the double play, get to second base ahead of the ball, if you can. If the throw is bad, you have a better chance to leave the bag and catch the ball.

When you play with shortstops like Luis Aparicio, Chico Carrasquel and Eddie Joost it makes the game easier around second. All my life I've been blessed with good shortstops.

The first two years with Aparicio (1956-'57) I had a lot of trouble with popups behind second. In the first place, I don't speak Spanish, and, at the time, he didn't speak English too well. Now we get along just fine. When he yells I know he's got the ball. And when I yell he knows I'm taking the ball.

Aparicio has a quick pair of hands. He gives you the ball over the bag nearly all the time. That gives me a better chance to catch the ball and get rid of it in a hurry. It also helps you get out of the runner's way before he can break up the DP.

Some shortstops lay back. They toss the ball about the same time the runner gets to you. It's tough to catch the ball, get out of the runner's way and throw at the same time. But with Aparicio he charges the ball well and gives you that real good underhand or sidearm flip, depending on his position.

Ball Always In View

I see the ball nearly all the time when Luis throws it. He throws the ball out from his body, mostly from shoulder high level. It means a great deal on the DP when you see the ball coming toward you.

Say the other team has a runner on first and third with one out. If you want to cut off that run you play in. If you hope to try for the DP, especially if the batter isn't too fast, you play back a bit. Of course, the manager should decide whether to have you play in or back.

There really is no set way in making the double play. But when the opportunity presents itself and there's a right-handed hitter up I always try to cheat a few steps.

I move about four steps toward the infield and maybe two toward second base. That means I already have shortened my running position to second base.

Figures On Throw

When I get to second I wait momentarily and try to figure where the throw will be. If the throw is toward center field I try to hit the bag with my left foot. I have my right foot planted so I can get some stuff on the throw. If the throw is over the bag I try to cross over the bag and drag my left foot. Then I have my right foot planted for the throw.

If a double play ball is hit hard right at some other fielder, and you have plenty of time, try to get to the bag, straddle the bag and touch it with your left foot while making the throw off your right foot.

When you take the throw from the first baseman, many times it would be best to hit the bag with your right foot. You won't get as much on the ball when you throw because you'll be off balance. But you save time.

Must Take Whacks

Second basemen must learn to take their whacks. I think the hardest I've ever been hit in my life was in Philadelphia in 1949. Johnny Lindell knocked me into left field. The Yankees scored two runs while I was out there on the ground holding the ball. That play beat us 2-1.

Of the present day players Bob Cerv of Kansas City comes in hard.

Of course, if you get the ball in plenty of time you can always protect yourself by jumping up in the air. In landing you often fall on the runner. When you're making the DP, completely relax yourself. That way you won't get hurt even if they hit you hard.

When I say a player comes in hard—I mean hard, not dirty. There's the team player and the guy who tries to hurt everybody. Of course, these fellows are trying to break up the double play. I expect to receive rough treatment. That's part of the game.

Hank Bauer of Kansas City comes in a bit rough. When he does he throws his legs up and tries to knock you down. But he never tries to get you with his spikes.

Tomorrow: Playing the Hitters.

Reception Of Radio Free Europe Called Successful

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Listen to this one," the communications expert said, raising the volume on the tape recorder.

A voice could be made out but the words were lost in a rush of noise that sounded as though a buzz saw was running against steel bars.

"He's talking about Khrushchev's visit to the United States," said Stanley Leinwoll. "That buzz saw noise comes from the Russians who are trying to drown out this broadcast to the Iron Curtain countries. Here are some others."

From the tape recorder there came a series of weird sounds: hums, whistles, warbling, buzzing, croaking, static. All were annoying.

"This is what it sounds like when a broadcast is being jammed. These are tapes of actual broadcasts and they show the 12 different kinds of jamming noises the Soviets use," says Leinwoll, who is propagation expert for Radio Free Europe.

Private Organization

In his job, Leinwoll is engaged in an unending battle of wits and science with the Soviets. He finds ways of making sure RFE broadcasts get through to the captive millions in Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria.

RFE is a private organization supported by voluntary contributions to the Crusade for Freedom.

"We have 27 short wave transmitters, 13 in Portugal and the rest in West Germany, as well as the world's most powerful medium wave transmitter," says Leinwoll. "The Russians have more than 2,000 transmitters trying to jam our broadcasts."

Isn't this a lopsided fight? What chance is there in getting through?

"That's where propagation comes in," says Leinwoll. "We work on developing superior signals and radio equipment. Additionally there is the ionosphere which works to our advantage in giving us what we call twilight immunity to jamming."

"Blanket Of Electricity"

The ionosphere is a blanket of electrically charged air that envelops the earth. In short wave communications it is used to bounce signals over great distances. The signals are best reflected back to earth when there is daylight.

Because of the earth's rotation, when it is still daylight in Portugal it is already dark in Russia. The ionosphere is like a giant canopy covering all the area from Portugal to the USSR, except that the part over Portugal is like a shiny mirror while the part over USSR is like cheese cloth. A beam of light pointed at an angle on the shiny part reflects down to the target: Czechoslovakia, for instance. But the Russian beam of light either goes through the ionosphere or doesn't get much reflection. And so RFE's radio signal goes through to its target clearly.

Each Day RFE broadcasts 18 hours to Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary and six hours to Romania and Bulgaria. The program schedule includes newscasts, news commentary, press review, religious broadcasts, music, dramatic programs and political satire.

Poisoning Incident Recalled

"At no time do our programs recommend action or indulge in denunciations," says the RFE. "We don't want people to act unwisely and cause futile bloodshed."

Unable to shut out RFE by jamming, the Communist bloc radio and press keep up a steady barrage of attack. Sometimes this takes a more sinister direction, as Radio Free Europe says it did last November.

RFE officials charged that Communist agents tried to poison 1,200 members of its staff in Munich, Germany, by putting poison in salt shakers at the station cafeteria. The plot was upset when a double agent tipped off the RFE.

In the New York RFE headquarters this plot is put down as further evidence of RFE's effectiveness.

"Each attack, each new transmitter used to jam us, each move of any kind against us gives us further proof of how successfully we are reaching the people behind the Iron Curtain," says the RFE.

Bottle, Note Tossed In River Returned

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—It took 12 years for someone to find the note in L. L. Stone's bottle.

Stone, a brakeman for the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad, tossed the tiny bottle into the Colorado River July 16, 1947, when his train crossed the river near Grand Junction, in southwest Colorado.

Inside was a note containing the date his address here and a request that the finder write him.

Stone says a letter from Emery Martin of San Bernardino, Calif., tells of finding the bottle Nov. 10, 1959—high and dry near the Temple Bar Landing on Nevada's Lake Meade.

The Colorado empties into Lake Meade about 500 miles from the spot where Stone tossed his bottle.

Cultural Assets Show Marked Gain

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)—A few years ago Window Rock, in the middle of the vast Navajo Reservation, was Arizona's quietest town. The nearest theater was in Gallup, N. M., about 50 miles away.

Then oil was discovered on Indian land.

Last year the Navajo Civic Center at Window Rock booked, for the fall-winter season: the U. S. Air Force Band, Guy Lombardo, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, Phoenix Orpheus Club Boys Choir, Ximenez-Vargas Ballet Espanol, and the Vienna Boys Choir.

Japanese wedding gowns (cost about $80) are embroidered, painted or have printed motifs applied on heavy black silk.

Ponophobia Is Very Common But Most Everyone Suffers From Dikephobia, Says Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of your old fears, and looking for something new to be afraid of?

A person's social prestige today often depends upon what he is terrified by. You have to have a fashionable fear or none.

Some time ago I compiled a list of odd fears the possession of which should give anyone added standing in his community. Since then many readers have written asking for still more strange things to be frightened by.

Some New Phobias

So here are a few additional fears to give you that scared feeling without which today no one seems to feel comfortable:

Does it make you feel blue to be alone? You are a victim of eremophobia and monophobia.

Do you hesitate to take a fourth martini at a cocktail party because you think someone may be watching? You have scopophobia, the fear of being looked at.

Do you dislike being kissed by your dear old most-mouthed aunt? That's a sure sign of hygrophobia, or fear of dampness.

Victim Of Bathophobia

Many teen-agers think life unbearable if they get a pimple on their nose. They are afflicted with dysmorphobia, the fear of deformity.

Does your husband hate symphonic music? Does he watch nothing on television except westerns and private eye programs? The poor man deserves sympathy. He's got a bad case of bathophobia, or fear of any kind of depth.

If a goldfish leaps at you, does it send you into a panic? You are undoubtedly an ichthyophobe, one who fears fish.

Triple Dread For Beatniks

Does the rising cost of living give you the heebie-jeebies? My friend, you have come down with batophobia, or fear of high objects.

Do you get into a tantrum if someone puts soda, instead of branchwater, into your bourbon? You have a clear case of molysmophobia, the fear of contamination.

Beatniks suffer a triple dread. They have chromatophobia (fear of money), hylephobia (fear of materialism) and—if the sight of a bathtub makes them tremble—hydrophobia (fear of water).

Ponophobia Very Common

Do you worry over the prospect of a long visit by your relatives? This can safely be diagnosed as parasitophobia, the fear of parasites.

Do you dislike the idea of being promoted to a better job? You have both hypenyphobia (fear of responsibility) and ponophobia (fear of work). These are two of the most common fears in civilization.

Dikephobia Is General

Many bachelors are fugitives from marriage but don't know why. The answer is simple. Their ailment is pingerophobia, the fear of smothering—or taphephobia, the fear of being buried alive.

Does the threat of communism appall you? It's likely you have erythrophobia, the fear of anything red.

But, if you're like most people, the thing you are afraid of most of all is that you'll get what's coming to you. That is good old dikephobia—better known as the fear of justice.

FOOL-PROOF COSTUME

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A fourth grade boy at Washington School, dressed as a ballet dancer and wearing lipstick and rouge at a party, attempted to go into the boys' room. William Floyd Duty, custodian, nabbed him at the door and refused to let the youngster enter.

A mazurka is a Polish dance in moderate triple measure.

President Visits Ft. Benning

President Eisenhower reviews the honor guard upon his arrival at Ft. Benning, Ga. He made a brief visit to view Project Man (modern Army needs) demonstrations. At the left is Gen. Hugh Harris, commander of Ft. Benning, and center is Capt. Robert Singer, commander of the honor guard. (AP Wirephoto)

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — The Mademoiselle Club met at the home of Mrs. Nellie Harbold last Thursday night. Plans were made for their annual Mother and Daughter banquet which will be held on May 12 at East Berlin. The following report was given of Mrs. Nellie Harbold last club conducted: United Fund Drive from the school, $50.87; fire company donation, $10; solicitation, $131; total $191.87. Mrs. David Hoke and Mrs. Roy Bittinger were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Hoke in honor of Miss Janet Bittinger who will become the bride of Marilyn Lory, Dillsburg, May 21. The room was decorated with white streamers and wedding bells. On a large table, under a flower covered umbrella, a veiled bride stood among the gifts. The bride was the recipient of many gifts. Games were played and a buffet luncheon was served. Guests present were: Miss Darlene, and Erma Wagner, Mrs. Carl Wagner, Mrs. Stanley Reinacker, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bowers, Bonnie Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chronister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Diehl Jr., Mrs. Everett Weiser, Mrs. John Chronister and David Hoke, of York Springs; Mrs. William Maust, Mrs. Charles Chronister, Mrs. Harold Riley and son, Stephen, Gardeners; Mrs. Eugene C. Chronister, Aspers; Mrs. John Gordon and Mrs. William Moul, Hampton; Mrs. Delbert Lory, Dillsburg; Mrs. John Aughaunbaugh, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wyre and Mrs. Glenn Herman, East Berlin.

Church of God, Carlisle. Mrs. Clarence Hatch, wife of the late Dr. Clarence W. Hatch, who was the director of World Service, will be the speaker.

A Mother-Daughter tea will be held in the school multi-purpose room Saturday, beginning at 6:30 p.m. There will be a program. The Bermudian Springs baccalaureate service will be held in the York Springs auditorium Sunday, May 22, at 8 p.m.

Harry Hogue remains a patient in the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, following a major operation last week.

Henry Ward Beecher, Connecticut minister of the 1800's, contended that "Victories that are cheap are cheap. Those only are worth having which come as the result of hard fighting."

Ponophobia Is Very Common But Most Everyone Suffers From Dikephobia, Says Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of your old fears, and looking for something new to be afraid of?

A person's social prestige today often depends upon what he is terrified by. You have to have a fashionable fear or none.

Some time ago I compiled a list of odd fears the possession of which should give anyone added standing in his community. Since then many readers have written asking for still more strange things to be frightened by.

Some New Phobias

So here are a few additional fears to give you that scared feeling without which today no one seems to feel comfortable:

Does it make you feel blue to be alone? You are a victim of eremophobia and monophobia.

Do you hesitate to take a fourth martini at a cocktail party because you think someone may be watching? You have scopophobia, the fear of being looked at.

Do you dislike being kissed by your dear old moist-mouthed aunt? That's a sure sign of hyrophobia, or fear of dampness.

Victim Of Bathophobia

Many teen-agers think life unbearable if they get a pimple on their nose. They are afflicted with dysmorphophobia, the fear of deformity.

Does your husband hate symphonic music? Does he watch nothing on television except westerns and private eye programs? The poor man deserves sympathy. He's got a bad case of bathophobia, or fear of any kind of depth.

If a goldfish leaps at you, does it send you into a panic? You are undoubtedly an ichthyophobe, one who fears fish.

Triple Dread For Beatniks

Does the rising cost of living give you the heebie-jeebies? My friend, you have come down with batophobia, or fear of high objects.

Do you get into a tantrum if someone puts soda, instead of branchwater, into your bourbon? You have a clear case of molysmophobia, the fear of contamination.

Beatniks suffer a triple dread. They have chromatophobia (fear of money), hylephobia (fear of materialism) and—if the sight of a bathtub makes them tremble—hydrophobia (fear of water).

Ponophobia Very Common

Do you worry over the prospect of a long visit by your relatives? This can safely be diagnosed as parasitophobia, the fear of parasites.

Do you dislike the idea of being promoted to a better job. You have both hypenophobia (fear of responsibility) and ponophobia (fear of work). These are two of the most common fears in civilization.

Dikephobia Is General

Many bachelors are fugitives from marriage but don't know why. The answer is simple. Their ailment is pnigerophobia, the fear of smothering — or taphephobia, the fear of being buried alive.

Does the threat of communism appall you? It's likely you have erythropobia, the fear of anything red.

But, if you're like most people, the thing you are afraid of most of all is that you'll get what's coming to you. That is good old dikephobia—better known as the fear of justice.

FOOL-PROOF COSTUME

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A fourth grade boy at Washington School, dressed as a ballet dancer and wearing lipstick and rouge at a party, attempted to go into the boys' room. William Floyd Duty, custodian, nabbed him at the door and refused to let the youngster enter.

A mazurka is a Polish dance in moderate triple measure.

President Visits Ft. Benning

President Eisenhower reviews the honor guard upon his arrival at Ft. Benning, Ga. He made a brief visit to view Project Man (modern Army needs) demonstrations. At the left is Gen. Hugh Harris, commander of Ft. Benning, and center is Capt. Robert Singer, commander of the honor guard. (AP Wirephoto)

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — The Mademoiselle Club met at the home of Mrs. Nellie Harbold last

Thursday night. Plans were made for their annual Mother and Daughter banquet which will be held on May 12 at East Berlin. The following report was given of the Cancer Drive which the club conducted: United Fund Drive from the school, $50.87; fire company donation, $10; solicitation, $131; total $191.87.

Mrs. David Hoke and Mrs. Roy Bittinger were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Hoke in honor of Miss Janet Bittinger who will become the bride of Marlyn Lory, Dillsburg, May 21. The room was decorated with white streamers and wedding bells. On a large table, under a flower covered umbrella, a veiled bride stood among the gifts. The bride was the recipient of many gifts. Games were played and a buffet luncheon was served. Guests present were: Miss Darlene, and Erma Wagner, Mrs. Carl Wagner, Mrs. Stanley Reinacker, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bowens, Bonnie Bower, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chronister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Roy Diehl Jr., Mrs. Everett Weiser, Mrs. John Chronister and David Hoke, of York Springs; Mrs. William Maust, Mrs. Charles Chronister, Mrs. Harold Riley and son, Stephen, Gardeners; Mrs. Eugene C. Chronister, Aspers; Mrs. John Gordon and Mrs. William Moul, Hampton; Mrs. Delbert Lory, Dillsburg; Mrs. John Aughinbaugh, Gettysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wyre and Mrs. Glenn Herman, East Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Forsberg and Walter Miller have returned to their homes in Anderson, Ind., after spending some time with their mother, Mrs. Josie Miller. There will be no services Sunday evening at the York Springs Church of God as the members of the congregation will attend the service at the Calvary Road

Church of God, Carlisle. Mrs. Clarence Hatch, wife of the late Dr. Clarence W. Hatch, who was the director of World Service, will be the speaker.

A Mother-Daughter tea will be held in the school multi-purpose room Saturday, beginning at 6:30 p.m. There will be a program. The Bermudian Springs baccalaureate service will be held in the York Springs auditorium Sunday, May 22, at 8 p.m.

Harry Hogue remains a patient in the Polyclinic Hospital, Harrisburg, following a major operation last week.

Henry Ward Beecher, Connecticut minister of the 1800's, contended that "Victories that are cheap are cheap. Those only are worth having which come as the result of hard fighting."

COST OF BIG FEATURES IS QUESTIONED

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's time to come to grips with this matter of movie costs.

Remember the days when big movies used to be advertised as million-dollar productions? Such films would be considered quickies nowadays—or so the publicity would have us believe.

The current product is filled with movies that are supposed to have cost 4, 5 or 6 million dollars. Others are touted as high as 9 ("Spartacus") and 15 ("Ben-Hur"). But do they run that high?

When I visited "The Alamo" location at Brackettville, Tex., producer-director-star John Wayne told me the film would cost 5½ million to shoot. His salary and other deferments would bring the total to 7 million, he said, and advertising, distribution and other charges would bring the total to 11 million.

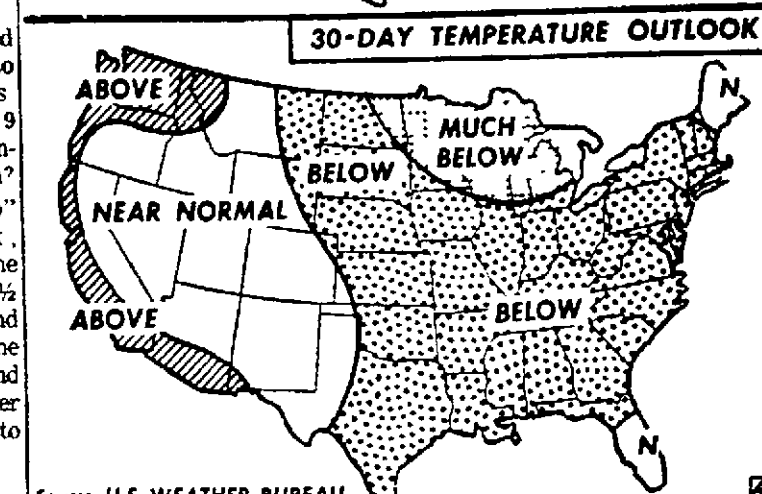

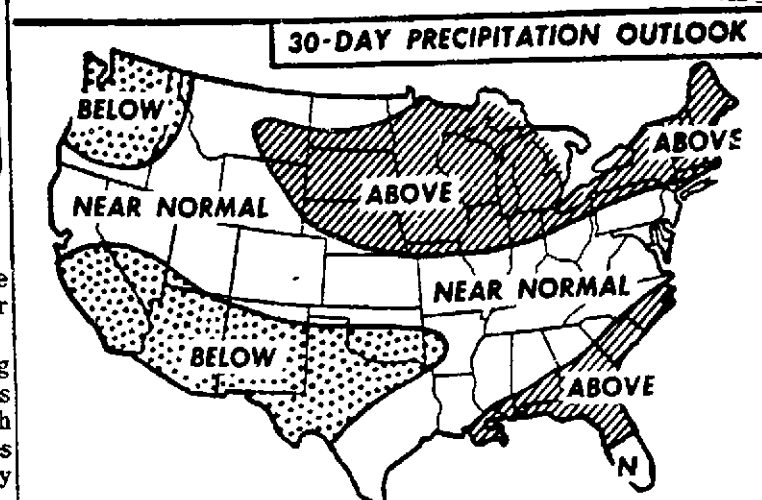

Cost Two Million

Wayne is too big and tough a guy to argue with, but that seemed like a lot of money to me. An associate who worked on the project until he feuded with Wayne now declares "The Alamo" actually cost 2 million.

"Can-Can" is advertised as a 6-million-dollar extravaganza. Could it really be that extravagant? There is only one big exterior—a standing set at 20th Century-Fox. The musical numbers are staged in one cafe set.

The cast is reasonably priced, except for Frank Sinatra. And he may have done the film at a smaller than usual fee to pay off for when he walked out of the studio's "Carousel."

Question Big Cost

Now we come to "Ben-Hur." Could it really have cost 15 million? It's big, all right. But it would seem a prodigious feat for any studio to spend that much on four hours of entertainment, chariot race or no chariot race. Remember that it was made in

Hamlet In See-Saw Existence Battle

ST LOUIS (AP)—Marvin Ter race has won its battle to stay on the map.

A group of residents, bent on disincorporating the tiny village, narrowly missed getting the signatures of three-fourths of its registered voters—required for a petition to disband the town. Another group, including many city officials, a month later gathered the signatures of more than one-fourth of the registered voters.

This settled the question, at least for the time being.

Official Candidate Wins By Working

ST LOUIS (AP) — Urban C. Bergauer Jr. and F. Carl Burt tied in an election to fill a vacancy for second ward alderman of suburban Glendale. The vote of 113-113 spurred Burt into action.

A month later in a special election, the vote was Burt 235, Bergauer 137. How did he do it? "Twice as much work," Burt says, "and plenty of doorbell ringing by friends and neighbors."

Italy, where costs are far lower than Hollywood's. A star who has worked on an Italian-made spectacle told me "Hercules" cost less than $200,000.

As a matter of cold fact, what does a film's cost matter to the public? Epics like "Alexander the Great" and "Helen of Troy" can nose-dive while quickies like "Marty" and "Room at the Top" can make millions.

WOMAN IS A HUNTING GUIDE IN COLORADO

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Most folks undoubtedly think a woman hunting guide in mountainous Colorado would be a strident gal at least slightly on the masculine side.

If that's the case, they've never run across Mrs. Ruth Thomson. She has soft, curly white hair, a broad smile and a twinkle in her eyes. And she's attractive. Mrs. Thomson is one of Colorado's few licensed woman guides. She's been riding horses since she was three years old and by the time she was old enough to go to school was making a 14-mile round trip by horseback through the rugged mountains to Telluride, Colo.

Many Pupils

Hundreds of summer visitors have been her pupils in riding classes. She and her late husband organized the Trail Riders of the Wilderness here more than 20 years ago and donated buckskins, boots and wide-brimmed

Emmitsburg

EMMITSBURG — The Parent-Teacher Association of the Emmitsburg Public School held its regular meeting on Tuesday. This was the annual achievement night when exhibits of pupils' work, which was done throughout the school year, were on display. These displays were artistically arranged in the class rooms and the cafeteria.

Teachers and their rooms were visited from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. at which time an interesting program was presented in the auditorium. The elementary music classes, under the direction of Miss Ruth Stull, presented two skits. The first, "Sleeping Beauty," was a pantomime in costume by grades four and five. The second "A Western Fantasy," was presented by the other grades.

Election Officers
After the program the business meeting was held at which time the officers to be installed in May were elected. They are as follows: Harry Hahn, president; Norman Wiley, vice president; Mrs. Frank Webb, corresponding secretary; Miss Lyla Jenkins, treasurer.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Guy Baker's room

After the meeting cake and red tea were served in the cafeteria. There was a record attendance and the quality of the exhibits was rated as outstanding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan have returned home after spending a few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerrigan, and family, St. Joseph, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cool, Baltimore, visited Sunday with relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Dennis Mitchell and daughter, of New Jersey, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wachter.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reifsnider and sons, Wayne and Douglas, Keymar, visited Sunday with Mrs. Reifsnider's mother, Mrs. George Ashbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. William Umbel and family, Waynesboro, and Jack Umbel, USAF, visited over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Umbel.

These displays were artistically arranged in the class rooms and the cafeteria.

Teachers and their rooms were visited from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. at which time an interesting program was presented in the auditorium. The elementary music classes, under the direction of Miss Ruth Stull, presented two skills. The first, "Sleeping Beauty," was a pantomime in costume by grades four and five. The second "A Western Fantasy," was presented by the other grades.

Elected Officers

After the program the business meeting was held at which time the officers to be installed in May were elected. They are as follows: Harry Hahn, president; Norman Wiley, vice president; Mrs. Frank Webb, corresponding secretary; Miss Lyla Jenkins, treasurer.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Guy Baker's room, 1846.

After the meeting cake and iced tea were served in the cafeteria. There was a record attendance and the quality of the exhibits was rated as outstanding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan have returned home after spending a few days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kerrigan, and family, St. Joseph, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cool, Baltimore, visited Sunday with relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Dennis Mitchell and daughter, of New Jersey, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wachter.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reifsnider and sons, Wayne and Douglas, Keymar, visited Sunday with Mrs. Reifsnider's mother, Mrs. George Ashbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. William Umbel and family, Waynesboro, and Jack Umbel, USAF, visited over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Umbel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nickoles and family, Westminster, visited Sunday with Mrs. Nickoles' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keepers.

Minister's Wife Teaches Charm To Like Numbers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "I feel so wicked," said the preacher's wife, daubing a touch of eye shadow to a once lusterless lid.

The daring lady is one of a group of ministers' wives who are experiencing what they feel is the greatest burst of female liberty since suffrage.

Five nights a week they gather at the home of Mrs. John H. Boyle and—amid giggles of devilry—take sheer delight in learning the secrets of charm.

"The Christian woman can look just as charming on the outside as her character is on the inside," declares Mrs. Boyle.

Started Five Years Ago

Her theory took root five years ago when Mrs. Boyle bristled at a remark by a professor at Southern Baptist Seminary who was aware the attractive minister's wife was a former model.

"Why don't you give some of that stuff to preachers' wives?" the professor needed. "Most of them walk as if they're following a plow."

That was all Mrs. Boyle needed. Many of her students are charged at first when Mrs. Boyle expounds some of her "revolutionary" teachings.

For example, "It's perfectly ladylike to cross your legs. It's how you do it that is the problem."

Lower the underneath knee as you cross, she explains, and remember the leg closest to your audience goes over the other one.

Urges Moderation

But Mrs. Boyle, drawing from the Bible, urges moderation in all things.

Use perfume, she says, but cautions, "Don't be one of those women you can smell all the way down

TV Set Stolen As Aftermath Of Call

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The morning after he made the final payment on his television set, Elmer Boggs sat watching it at home. The phone rang.

A man told him that a friend had been in an accident some distance away. Boggs jumped in his car and sped to the scene. No friend, no accident.

No TV set, either, he found when he got back. Neighbors saw three men drive up to the rear of Boggs' house while he was gone and load the TV and his new hi-fi set into their car.

Squirrel Bombards Hunter; Wins Out

GRAFTON, ILL. (AP) — Carl Pittinger's squirrel hunting trip started out well enough.

He bagged two squirrels. Then he aimed at a third but this squirrel had a weapon handy. It dropped a hickory nut squarely in Pittinger's eye.

Pittinger, 40, was treated at a hospital for a minor eye injury.

WHEELCHAIR RIDDEN WIFE STILL ACTIVE

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Take away the wheelchair, and Mrs. Dorothea Aramski would be just like thousands of other women who combine motherhood with civic work and an outside job.

Mrs. Aramski, paralyzed from the waist down by a polio attack in 1954, says "I had to accept the fact that wheels were the only legs I would have for a while, perhaps forever. But I also wanted to compete in the normal world, legs or no legs."

Compete, she does, and her success offers encouragement to others with handicaps.

PTA Worker

Mrs. Aramski, mother of four children, spends much of her free time working with the PTA, at a

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR

Camera fans are full of questions from the moment they first get interested in photography. Often the most urgent questions come when experts aren't round to answer them.

Take the typical photo amateur buying a camera or equipment. He may ask a few general questions and think he understands it all. But doesn't he wish he had the salesman handy later when he is actually loading film or trying to focus with the split-image rangefinder?

Editors of Popular Photography have been saving the most commonly asked questions for 15 years. These were turned over to Robert L. McIntyre, Chicago camera editor, who selected the choice ones and the correct answers to make "1,000 Photo Questions Answered by Experts" (Ziff-Davis). This can take the place

Real Hero

Though her day begins at 6 a.m. and ends at midnight, Mrs. Adamski doesn't see any special problems in bringing up her children.

"I cuddle them when they need it, and I spank them when they need it, and so far it's working out beautifully. I'm praying it continues to work. I guess the real hero in all of this is my husband. He lets me be just me. That's the most anyone could ask for."

French inventor de Chardonnay produced the first successful rayon in 1880.

Here are the answers:

1. The taking and viewfinding lenses of a twin-lens reflex are not necessarily exactly alike. The viewfinder lens sometimes has a wider aperture in order to give a brighter image and it need not be as fully corrected as the taking lens. However both must have exactly the same focal length.

2. There are three things you can do to shoot pictures in dim light with a box-type camera: (a) Increase the light by using flash or setting up floodlights; (b) use extremely fast film and give more than normal development time in processing; (c) make a time exposure with the camera mounted on a firm support.

3. An f/number is used to calibrate the aperture settings of most lenses. Theoretically any two lenses will form equally bright images at the same f/number. The number is derived by dividing the focal length of the lens by the diameter of the aperture. Thus a four-inch lens with a one-inch aperture would be rated as 1/4.

4. Silicone-treated cloth or paper should never be used on coated lenses. The surface coating of a lens is porous and will take up silicone, changing its optical properties and making it less effective.

5. The three types of flash synchronization are: (a) Class X, for electronic flash with a delay so small it is considered as zero. Contact is made as soon as the shutter is fully open; (b) class F, for gas-filled flashbulbs, provides a five-millisecond delay since these bulbs reach their peak five milliseconds after contact is made; (c) class M, for most other lamps, has a delay of 20 milliseconds.

Minister's Wife Teaches Charm To Like Numbers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "I feel so wicked," said the preacher's wife, daubing a touch of eye shadow to a once lusterless lid. The daring lady is one of a group of ministers' wives who are experiencing what they feel is the greatest burst of female liberty since suffrage.

But Mrs. Boyle, drawing from the Bible, urges moderation in all things.

Use perfume, she says, but cautiously, "Don't be one of those women you can smell all the way down the aisle. Be charming, but not overwhelming. You don't want waves of nausea following you."

Mrs. Boyle's success proves preachers' wives are not much different in their attitudes as women in many another walk of life. Nor, unfortunately, are their husbands.

Reported one charm student who went home decked out in a new hairdo and fancy hat:

"He never noticed a thing. I was crushed."

Camera fans are full of questions from the moment they first get interested in photography. Often the most urgent questions come when experts aren't round to answer them.

Take the typical photo amateur buying a camera or equipment. He may ask a few general questions and think he understands it all. But doesn't he wish he had the salesman handy later when he is actually loading film or trying to focus with the split-image rangefinder?

Editors of Popular Photography have been saving the most commonly asked questions for 15 years. These were turned over to Robert L. McIntyre, Chicago camera editor, who selected the choice ones and the correct answers to make "1,000 Photo Questions Answered by Experts" (Ziff-Davis). This can take the place of the salesman who isn't handy or the friend who knows everything or the instruction sheet which was tossed away.

Just about every possible category you might have a question about is covered: Cameras, lenses and shutters, films, filters and exposures, portraiture, printing and enlarging, movie making, outdoor and indoor picture taking. There are also chapters on shooting stereo and travel photography, camera trickery, slide shows and the legal side.

Here are a few questions picked at random from the book. 1. Are the taking and viewfinder lenses of a twin-lens reflex camera exactly alike? 2. What can I do if I want to take pictures when the light is too dim to shoot with my box-type camera? 3. What is an f/number? 4. Should silicone-treated cloth or paper, used in cleaning eyeglasses, be used in cleaning lenses? 5. What is the difference between the three types of flash synchronization in use today?

Here are the answers:
1. The taking and viewfinder lenses of a twin-lens reflex are not necessarily exactly alike. The viewfinder lens sometimes has a wider aperture in order to give a brighter image and it need not be as fully corrected as the taking lens. However both must have exactly the same focal length.

Minister's Wife Teaches Charm To Like Numbers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "I feel so wicked," said the preacher's wife, daubing a touch of eye shadow to a once lusterless lid. The daring lady is one of a group of ministers' wives who are experiencing what they feel is the greatest burst of female liberty since suffrage.

Five nights a week they gather at the home of Mrs. John H. Boyle and—amid giggles of devilry—take sheer delight in learning the secrets of charm.

"The Christian woman can look just as charming on the outside as her character is on the inside," declares Mrs. Boyle.

Started Five Years Ago
Her theory took root five years ago when Mrs. Boyle bristled at a remark by a professor at Southern Baptist Seminary who was aware of the attractive minister's wife was a former model.

"Why don't you give some of that stuff to preachers' wives?" the professor needed. "Most of them walk as if they're following a plow."

That was all Mrs. Boyle needed. Many of her students are charged at first when Mrs. Boyle expounds some of her "revolutionary" teachings.

For example, "It's perfectly ladylike to cross your legs. It's how you do it that is the problem."

Lower the underneath knee as you cross, she explains, and remember the leg closest to your audience goes over the other one.

Urges Moderation
But Mrs. Boyle, drawing from the Bible, urges moderation in all things.

Use perfume, she says, but cautions, "Don't be one of those women you can smell all the way down the aisle. Be charming, but not overwhelming. You don't want waves of nausea following you."

Mrs. Boyle's success proves preachers' wives are not much different in their attitudes as women in many another walk of life. Nor, unfortunately, are their husbands.

Reported one charm student who went home decked out in a new hairdo and fancy hat: "He never noticed a thing. I was crushed."

TV Set Stolen As Aftermath Of Call

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The morning after he made the final payment on his television set, Elmer Boggs sat watching it at home. The phone rang.

A man told him that a friend had been in an accident some distance away. Boggs jumped in his car and sped to the scene. No friend, no accident.

No TV set, either, he found when he got back. Neighbors saw three men drive up to the rear of Boggs' house while he was gone and load the TV and his new hi-fi set into their car.

Squirrel Bombards Hunter; Wins Out

GRAFTON, ILL. (AP) — Carl Pittinger's squirrel hunting trip started out well enough.

He bagged two squirrels. Then he aimed at a third but this squirrel had a weapon handy. It dropped a hickory nut squarely in Pittinger's eye.

Pittinger, 40, was treated at a hospital for a minor eye injury.

WHEELCHAIR RIDDEN WIFE STILL ACTIVE

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Take away the wheelchair, and Mrs. Dorothea Aramski would be just like thousands of other women who combine motherhood with civic work and an outside job.

Mrs. Aramski, paralyzed from the waist down by a polio attack in 1964, says "I had to accept the fact that wheels were the only legs I would have for a while, perhaps forever. But I also wanted to compete in the normal world, legs or no legs."

Compete, she does, and her success offers encouragement to others with handicaps.

PTA Worker
Mrs. Aramski, mother of four children, spends much of her free time working with the PTA, at a recreation center for handicapped teen-agers and taking part in activities of the Wheel Chair Bowling League, which she formed. Each year she leads the wheel chair bowlers in the March of Dimes campaign.

She works at Hands, Inc., a Rochester firm dealing in light manufacturing and packaging. Her seven co-workers also are handicapped.

Real Hero

Though her day begins at 6 a.m. and ends at midnight, Mrs. Aramski doesn't see any special problems in bringing up her children. "I cuddle them when they need it, and I spank them when they need it, and so far it's working out beautifully. I'm praying it continues to work. I guess the real hero in all of this is my husband. He lets me be just me. That's the most anyone could ask for."

French inventor de Chardonnet produced the first successful rayon in 1880.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Camera fans are full of questions from the moment they first get interested in photography. Often the most urgent questions come when experts aren't round to answer them.

Take the typical photo amateur buying a camera or equipment. He may ask a few general questions and think he understands it all. But doesn't he wish he had the salesman handy later when he is actually loading film or trying to focus with the split-image rangefinder?

Editors of Popular Photography have been saving the most commonly asked questions for 15 years. These were turned over to Robert L. McIntyre, Chicago camera editor, who selected the choice ones and the correct answers to make "1,000 Photo Questions Answered by Experts" (Ziff-Davis). This can take the place of the salesman who isn't handy or the friend who knows everything or the instruction sheet which was tossed away.

Just about every possible category you might have a question about is covered: Cameras, lenses and shutters, films, filters and exposures, portraiture, printing and enlarging, movie making, outdoor and indoor picture taking. There are also chapters on shooting stereo and travel photography, camera trickery, slide shows and the legal side.

Here are a few questions picked at random from the book. 1. Are the taking and viewfinding lenses of a twin-lens reflex camera exactly alike? 2. What can I do if I want to take pictures when the light is too dim to shoot with my box-type camera? 3. What is an f/number? 4. Should silicone-treated cloth or paper, used in cleaning eyeglasses, be used in cleaning lenses? 5. What is the difference between the three types of flash synchronization in use today?

Here are the answers:

1. The taking and viewfinding lenses of a twin-lens reflex are not necessarily exactly alike. The viewfinding lens sometimes has a wider aperture in order to give a brighter image and it need not be as fully corrected as the taking lens. However both must have exactly the same focal length.

2. There are three things you can do to shoot pictures in dim light with a box-type camera: (a) Increase the light by using flash or setting up floodlights; (b) use extremely fast film and give more than normal development time in processing; (c) make a time exposure with the camera mounted on a firm support.

3. An f/number is used to calibrate the aperture settings of most lenses. Theoretically any two lenses will form equally bright images at the same f/number. The number is derived by dividing the focal length of the lens by the diameter of the aperture. Thus a four-inch lens with a one-inch aperture would be rated as f/4.

4. Silicone-treated cloth or paper should never be used on coated lenses. The surface coating of a lens is porous and will take up silicone, changing its optical properties and making it less effective.

5. The three types of flash synchronization are: (a) Class X, for electronic flash with a delay so small it is considered as zero. Contact is made as soon as the shutter is fully open; (b) class F, for gas-filled flashbulbs, provides a five-millisecond delay since these bulbs reach their peak five milliseconds after contact is made; (c) class M, for most other lamps, has a delay of 20 milliseconds.

DOUGERTY'S TRIAL ENDS IN HUNG JURY

By LEE LINDER

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The trial of Robert L. Dougherty, a Wyoming, Pa., anthracite mine owner accused of bribing a union representative in exchange for labor peace, ended in a hung jury Wednesday night.

Shortly before midnight, a jury of 12 men reported to U.S. District Judge Caleb M. Wright it could not reach a verdict. The jury had deliberated nearly seven hours.

Jury Foreman Thomas H. Nuttall told the Associated Press the vote for conviction was 9-3 on each of 25 separate counts in the criminal information. He did not identify the three jurors who fought for acquittal.

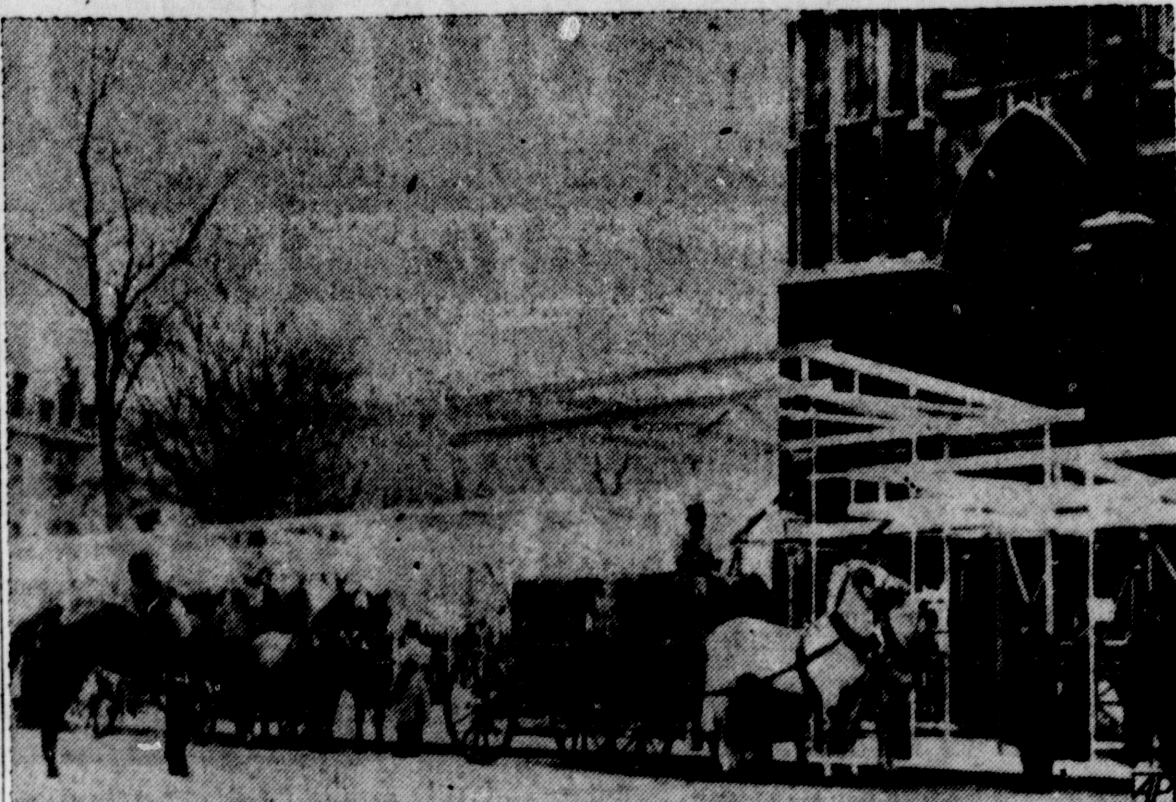

Jenkins Surprised

U.S. Atty. Daniel H. Jenkins said he was surprised by the mistrial and uncertain what his next course of action will be. He added he will consult Wright whether to seek immediate retrial of Dougherty.

The government had accused Dougherty of violating the Taft-Hartley Law by paying a total of $5,005 to Dominic Alaimo, a committeeman for United Mine Workers Local 8005, in 1957-58 when Dougherty was president of the now defunct Knox Coal Co.

Knox closed down after the Susquehanna River flooded its River Slope workings at Port Griffith, Pa., Jan. 22, 1959, killing 12 men. Dougherty had been indicted for manslaughter in Pennsylvania in connection with the disaster.

connection with the disaster.

Trial Shifted

The trial was shifted to Wilmington after defense counsel pleaded Dougherty's case would be prejudiced in northeastern Pennsylvania courts.

The trial lasted nine days. The jury had the case nearly 10½ hours before it gave up trying to reach a verdict. Deliberations were reduced when time was taken for lunch and dinner.

Three times the jury sent out notes to Wright requesting more information. In the last note, sent out shortly after dinner, the jury sought to have read to it testimony of FBI Agent Robert L. Boylan, of Dallas, Pa. The judge refused the request "on sound legal principles."

It was Boylan who testified Dougherty told him he knew Alaimo was a committeeman for Local 8005 which represented Knox workers.

During deliberations, Dougherty, who now operates mines at Warrior Run and Plymouth Township in Northeastern Pennsylvania, paced the courthouse corridor with his three attorneys.

STATE BOARD OF CENSORS READY SOON

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Movie Censorship Board will be ready to begin operation soon, chairman Peter T. Dana said today.

But a challenge to the new censorship code, pending in Dauphin County Court, will prevent exercise of its powers indefinitely.

Dana said the three member board will meet "within the next two weeks" to adopt rules of procedure. It also is in the process of leasing space at the state office building in Pittsburgh.

Select Director

William H. Mendlow, a Pittsburgh attorney, meanwhile has been elected its executive director at an annual salary of $7,400.

Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alperin said she was hoping for a decision by the court soon.

Judge Walter T. Sohn of Dauphin County Court said he hoped to have an opinion by the end of May. However, he said, the courts have a busy schedule for the next several weeks which could delay a decision beyond that time.

None Since 1955

The new board succeeds the one put out of business by the State Supreme Court in 1955 when it ruled the state's 1919 censorship law was unconstitutional, that he law's language was too indefinite and vague.

The 1959 Legislature wrote a new law listing two grounds on which movies may be banned: Obscen-

Man Killed When New Roof Collapses

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A roof collapsed at the Fort Allen elementary school four miles west of here Wednesday, killing a 30-year-old man and injuring four high school boys.

Donald Moore of New Stanton reportedly was standing under the roof of a new shelter being constructed about 200 feet behind the school building when a brace of the roof gave way. He died of a fractured skull.

Four boys working on the roof when it collapsed were not hurt seriously.

Dana said the three member board will meet "within the next two weeks" to adopt rules of procedure. It also is in the process of leasing space at the state office building in Pittsburgh.

Select Director

William H. Mendlow, a Pittsburgh attorney, meanwhile has been elected its executive director at an annual salary of $7,400.

Atty. Gen. Anne K. Alpern said she was hoping for a decision by the court soon.

Judge Walter T. Sohn of Dauphin County Court said he hoped to have an opinion by the end of May. However, he said, the courts have a busy schedule for the next several weeks which could delay a decision beyond that time.

None Since 1955

The new board succeeds the one put out of business by the State Supreme Court in 1955 when it ruled the state's 1919 censorship law was unconstitutional, that he law's language was too indefinite and vague.

The 1959 Legislature wrote a new law listing two grounds on which movies may be banned: Obscen-

Man Killed When New Roof Collapses

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A roof collapsed at the Fort Allen elementary school four miles west of here Wednesday, killing a 30-year-old man and injuring four high school boys.

Donald Moore of New Stanton reportedly was standing under the roof of a new shelter being constructed about 200 feet behind the school building when a brace of the roof gave way. He died of a fractured skull.

Four boys working on the roof when it collapsed were not hurt seriously.

Mrs. Pennsylvania Is Mother Of Five

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A mother of five is Mrs. Pennsylvania of 1961.

Mrs. Charlotte Logue of Shigo, Clarion County, won the title Wednesday in competition sponsored by three gas firms.

Mrs. Pennsylvania was selected on the basis of cooking, baking, personality, good grooming and appearance. She will represent the state in the national finals at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in June.

Desk Sergeant Runs Risks Of Duty Also

ST. LOUIS (AP)—They used to tell Sgt. Victor Gallo his job was the safest in the police department. They don't any more.

Gallo, a desk officer, strolled outside the station to copy some information from a truck parked at the curb. A mail truck began rolling downhill, bounced off two light standards, jumped the curb and struck Gallo.

He was taken to a hospital with arm and rib injuries, condition serious.

Grandmother Signal Tower Operator In Railroad Yard

By DAVID A. LEHERR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 51-year-old grandmother directing operation of speeding passenger trains and 150-car freight trains?

Maybe strange, but it's true. Mrs. Pearl Reno has been doing just that for the past 17 years as a signal tower operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"I wouldn't trade this work for any other job in the whole world—it's just too exciting," says Mrs. Reno. "It's like a little kid operating a complicated model train layout. You always have to use your noodle."

Responsibilities

Mrs. Reno must see that all trains move safely over two sets of tracks and through a one-way tunnel at her nearby Corliss tower.

Among the things Mrs. Reno must watch for are the possibility of two trains being on the same track and the report of dirt and rock slides.

She controls the trains with a system of electronic signal lights located about a quarter of a mile to each side of the tower and at opposite ends of the tunnel. The lights are operated by levers in the tower.

"The job's easy enough when everything's okay," says Mrs. Reno. "I just give the engineer a green light and he comes through."

Full Load

Up to 30 freight and passenger trains pass the tower during her eight-hour shift.

When it's necessary to stop a train, Mrs. Reno grabs a lever and her electronic system goes into action. After sending a danger signal, she goes outside the tower with a red flag or red lantern just to be certain the engineer gets a double warning.

"I do one other thing too—I pray," Mrs. Reno says. For the most part, there isn't much trouble.

However, Mrs. Reno says she'll never forget one night this winter when she stopped a crack passenger train as it bore down on a stretch of track buried under a 200-ton landslide near her tower.

"I heard the report of the landslide over the phone in my tower," Mrs. Reno recalls. "Meanwhile, the train, speeding about 40 miles an hour, had already passed the electronic warning point. I grabbed my red lantern, raced from the tower and began waving it as fast as I could. The train screeched to a stop just in time."

Mrs. Reno then switched the train to an unblocked track and sent it on its way—the 145 passengers a little shaken—but unhurt.

Mrs. Reno started signal tower work during World War II.

"They were hiring women, so I applied for the job," she says. "After some hard study and several tests I was hired. I just stayed with the job after the war."

Only a few women operate signal towers throughout the country. There are only three in the Pittsburgh district.

"I realize this is an odd job for a woman," she says, "but if you like what you're doing, why quit?"

Mrs. Reno's husband, a locomotive engineer for the PRR, has no objections to her job. "It gives us something in common to talk about," she laughs.
